Major U. S. Disarmament Policy Decision Expected

Two Secret Talks Study Negotiations

Stassen At Meeting Of Security Council; Dulles To Participate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration scheduled two top-secret meetings today amid reports it may be nearing a new major policy decision on disarmament negotiations.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said there are indications that "a genuine negotiation may actually be in the making" in London arms control talks on a limited, experimental agreement.

The London arms talks recessed last week to permit the negotiators to confer with their governments. The talks resume Monday.

Stassen Attends
President Eisenhower called Harold E. Stassen, his special assistant for disarmament and chief negotiator at the London conference, to a White House meeting of the National Security Council.

Later, Stassen and Secretary of State Dulles will report to a closed meeting of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee of which Humphrey is chairman. Major Democratic and Republican Senate leaders were invited to the meeting at Dulles' specific request.

Chances that Adm. Arthur W. Radford and Stassen might air their apparent differences on disarmament policy faded when it was disclosed that Radford would not attend the Security Council meeting.

As chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Radford frequently sits in on meetings of the Council, the nation's top policy-making body.

Can't Trust Russians
In talking with reporters Sunday about East-West negotiations, Radford commented: "We cannot trust the Russians on this or anything. The Communists have broken their word with every country with which they ever had an agreement."

Stassen, on the other hand, is reported to be somewhat optimistic about chances for a limited disarmament agreement, and to favor making clear to the Russians that the United States does give them some credit for good faith in their proposals.

Eisenhower, at his news conference yesterday, seemed to align himself more closely with Stassen's views than with Radford.

Four Felons Break Legs

BUFORD, Ga. (AP)—Seven more prisoners sat down at Buford Rock Quarry yesterday and tried to break their legs with sledgehammers. Four succeeded.

Three convicts broke their legs Monday. Three others failed.

Director Jack Forrester had a just announced plan of the Corrections Department to give mental tests to all the prisoners when news came of the latest outbreak. He said it was hoped the examinations would reveal the real cause of trouble at the maximum security prison.

About 150 prisoners classed as incorrigibles are confined at the quarry.

Forty-one prisoners broke their legs or fractured leg bones last summer in a protest against alleged mistreatment.

All seven involved in the latest incident are Negroes. The six in Monday's episode are white.

Handicapped Man Of Year Honored By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will honor today the "handicapped man of the year"—an Oklahoma City businessman crippled from youth with polio.

The award goes to Hugo Deffenner, an insurance executive, at the opening of the 10th annual meeting of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

Mr. Eisenhower will also present awards to five high school girls for their prize-winning essays on employment of handicapped persons.

The President described handicapped workers yesterday as the nation's "most precious asset" in these demanding times.

More Severe Weather Due For Mid-U. S.

Tornadoes Still Rage Through Area; Kansas City Starts Rebuilding

By The Associated Press
More severe weather appeared in prospect for storm-battered and flood-stricken areas in the mid-continent today.

Tornadoes again swooped across sections of Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma and southern Illinois yesterday. However, the twisters did not cause any deaths as did the ones which pounded Missouri Monday and Tuesday, killing 51 and injuring nearly 300.

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in a tornado that hit the small town of Malone in central Texas last night.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Civic and business leaders have launched a plan designed to restore 739 homes in Kansas City's tornado-devastated suburbs in no more than 60 days.

Eighty-six of the more than 200 hurt in Monday night's storm still were in hospitals today. Four of them in critical condition.

The death toll stood at 37.

President Eisenhower yesterday ordered disaster area designations for the suburban area on the south edge of Kansas City, in adjoining counties in Kansas and for wrecked towns in southeast Missouri where 14 more were killed Tuesday by twisters.

Two Girls Perish In Refrigerator

CAMPBELL, N.Y. (AP)—Two young sisters suffocated inside an abandoned refrigerator yesterday.

The victims, Kathleen, 6, and Margie, 4, were two of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Taft.

Police said the interior showed signs of their struggle to free themselves.

Soviet Tourists Arrive

NAPLES (AP)—The 10,000-ton Soviet steamer Grizia arrived in Italy today from Greece with 750 Soviet tourists aboard.

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Highway Patrolman James Greenlaw, investigating a report of a minor accident, asked Mrs. Bertha Orcutt for her driver's license.

"Oh, I left that at home," she said, "but I can get it for you."

He said that wasn't necessary right now, but asked when she was born.

"1854," said the short, gray-haired lady.

"But that would make you 103. You don't look more than 70 or 75."

"If I were only 75, I'd be delighted to say so young man," Mrs. Orcutt said. "It's still nice to hear it."

Her car had a bent fender from a two-foot drop down an embankment.

Bishop Shannon Dies

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Bishop Paul E. V. Shannon of the East Central District of the Evangelical United Brethren Church died early today of a heart attack at York Hospital. He was 59.

U. N. Asked To Censure Israel Acts

Syria Cites Alleged Violations Of 1949 Armistice Accord

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Syria asked the U. N. Security Council today to "condemn" Israel for alleged "violations" of the 1949 armistice and to order removal of the controversial Lake Huleh bridge.

Syrian envoy Rafik Asha charged that the "unilateral action" of Israel "in building a bridge with military value" in the demilitarized zone is a "flagrant violation" of the truce principles.

Israeli delegate Mordecai Kidron was invited to participate in the council debate. He prepared a rebuttal speech denying virtually all Syrian contentions and defending the Huleh reclamation project as a "worthy enterprise" that has turned swampland into fertile fields.

In Demilitarized Zone
The project is being carried out in the northeastern corner of Israel and in the Syrian-Israeli demilitarized zone. The bridge in question was built in the southernmost section of the zone but not on formerly Arab-owned land.

The Syrian-Israeli exchange before the 11-nation council reopened deep hostility between the neighboring countries dating back to the Holy Land war.

Rafik's 10,000-word speech traced the dispute from the Arab viewpoint and resurrected charges that Israel had ousted Arab civilians from the demilitarized zone in order to carry out the swamp drainage scheme.

Already Investigated
The Syrian complaint already has been investigated by the acting chief of staff of the U. N. truce supervisors, U. S. Col. Byron V. Leary.

After an on-the-spot investigation, he reported last month he was "satisfied" that the bridge "has been erected in connection with the Huleh reclamation project" and he would not be justified in asking its removal.

Score Says Sight 'Hazy'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herb Score said today he can see light and motion out of his injured right eye, but everything is "hazy."

The 23-year-old southpaw pitcher ace of the Cleveland Indians told his first news conference since he was injured two weeks ago that his vision has improved very much in the last few days.

To a reporter standing three feet from him as he sat on his bed at Lakeside Hospital, Score said "I can tell you are there, but I can't recognize you."

He said that at vision tests yesterday, that he could see the wall and tell that there was a chart on it, but everything was very hazy.

Dr. Charles I. Thomas, the eye specialist who has been treating Score, said the young pitcher probably will leave the hospital during the early part of next week.

He will go to Hagerstown, Md. to recuperate at the home of his uncle, A. F. Flood.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to sell off in early trading today.

Ask Removal Of 'Horror' Queen Victoria's Statue Sits On Comfort Station

HULL, England (AP)—The lord mayor of Hull says he will take steps to get Queen Victoria off the comfort station.

In Hull's Victoria Square there is a massive statue of the queen erected to commemorate a visit she made to this Yorkshire fishing town a century ago.

In some now unexplained manner the statue was placed atop a square's comfort station—called a public convenience in Britain. Doors below on either side are marked "Ladies" and "Gents."

The uneasy feeling that the rigidly decorous widow of Windsor would not be amused has disturbed many citizens for many years. The drive to do something

Miss Anne Beimes of San Francisco, a press representative, lights her cigaret from the master slave manipulator inside a hot cell operating area at the General Electric Company's new $4,000,000 Vallecitos Atomic Laboratory which was dedicated yesterday at Pleasanton, Calif. The new reactor will be used mainly for development of types of atomic fuels.

Boy Held In Death Of Mother, Sister

Waits On Call For 23 Years

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Florence English, 48, says her husband, Maurice, when he went to jail in 1934 for drunkenness, told her he'd phone as soon as he got out.

Mrs. English, in state Supreme Court said Maurice still hasn't called and petitioned to have her husband declared legally dead.

Justice David Kusnetz reserved decision.

Burma Joins Japan In Call For Test Ban

RANGOON (AP)—Japanese premier Nobusuke Kishi and Burmese premier U Nu signed a joint communique today calling for a ban on nuclear tests.

The communique was issued shortly before Kishi left for New Delhi this morning.

NEW DELHI (AP)—Signs urging the end of nuclear tests set the tone today for the two-day state visit Japanese premier Nobusuke Kishi is paying to India.

Prime minister Jawaharlal Nehru greeted Kishi on his arrival by plane from Rangoon, Burma. The Japanese premier, wearing a garland of jasmine and marigolds, was presented to Indian government officials and the foreign diplomatic corps.

Kishi and Nehru will open formal talks Friday.

The mother heard the shots and ran upstairs. In the second-floor hallway Andrew pumped six shots at his mother, killing her instantly.

Then he fired two shots into a wall, and two out a window.

The father ran from the kitchen, hustled the younger son, Michael, 12, to safety outside and telephoned to police.

British Bomber Might Set Mark On Polar Flight

LONDON (AP)—A twin-jet Canberra bomber zoomed out of London Airport today on a hurried trip to Japan and back to investigate flight conditions on the polar route and perhaps to set a new record.

The silver and red Royal Air Force plane is scheduled to make the round trip in 32 hours 50 minutes flying time—or 38 hours 20 minutes including stops.

The plane will fly over the North Pole, arriving in Tokyo tomorrow morning after stopping at Keflavik, Iceland, and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Officially the flight is to investigate navigational aids and meteorological conditions on the northern route.

As a side accomplishment it will seek a new round trip record for the London-Tokyo run. The present record is 94 hours, set 20 years ago by a Japanese plane.

The lord mayor, Alderman Harry Kneeshaw, agreed.

Cites Threat To Security At Hearings

2 1/2 Billion Reduction Unwise Gamble; Slash Based On Hope Risky

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee today that a proposed 2 1/2 billion dollar cut in the defense budget "would amount to gambling unwisely with the security of the nation."

In prepared testimony, Wilson said he believes there is "no real basis" for assuming international danger has lessened.

"Cuts based on hope alone are too risky," he said.

Wilson said one of two things must occur to justify "real reductions" in security programs — "a real improvement in international relations or a disarmament agreement with proper safeguards."

Hasn't Analyzed Cuts
Wilson said he has not had sufficient time to make detailed analyses of the cuts voted by the House Appropriations Committee.

But he told the senators some of the proposed reductions represent adjustments in capital funds or new obligatory authority not immediately affecting the program.

"Such adjustments are a matter of judgment, and it should be recognized that most of them will have to be restored in subsequent years," he said. "Other proposed reductions would have an immediate impact on our defense program. We hope that your committee will see fit to restore most of the amounts of the proposed cuts in these areas, because they represent adjustments downward in our defense program of considerable magnitude and seriousness."

Wilson said it would be possible to "live with" $1,313,000,000 of the proposed cuts because they involve transfers of funds available in other forms to the Defense Department.

This would leave about $1,274,000,000 of the cut which Wilson obviously intends to fight. The original budget request was $38,128,000,000.

Reflecting President Eisenhower's stated concern about cuts in buying of aircraft and missiles, Wilson told the committee:

"The reductions which the committee recommended to be applied in the fields of major procurement in the Navy and Air Force will, for the most part, have the direct effect of reducing the military program, the principal impact being in the field of aircraft, ships and missile procurement. I believe that these cuts should be restored."

Risky Based On Hope
Cuts based on hope alone are risky, Wilson said.

"Europe and the Far East are still full of difficult, unresolved problems," he said. "While the shooting has stopped in the Middle East, the problems in that part of the world have not been resolved and by the time our present defense budget has reached Congress, new, difficult situations there or elsewhere in the world could confront us."

Coty Ponders New Premier
PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty sent out word today he intends to nominate a successor for Premier Guy Mollet within 48 hours in an effort to keep his own date with President Eisenhower early next month.

Persons who spoke with the president said Coty hoped for swift solution of France's political crisis so he could arrive on schedule in Washington June 3 for a state visit.

The count of five colonels and three master sergeants reached its verdict after deliberating an hour and 35 minutes.

Reynolds was accused of shooting Liu Tze-jan, 33, outside the sergeant's bathroom window last March 20. If convicted, he could have been imprisoned for up to 10 years.

The sergeant claimed he fired at the Chinese plane. Liu in self-defense after the Chinese raised a stick, as if to hit him. Reynolds testified his wife, Clara, had seen Liu peering at her through the window while she took a shower. He loaded his .22 caliber target pistol and ran outside. Reynolds said, and shot Liu twice when the Chinese advanced threateningly toward him.

In summing up, Capt. Charles E. Steele, Reynolds' defense counsel, declared that Formosa newspapers had given irresponsible, twisted versions of the proceedings in an attempt to turn it into an international incident.

Steele asserted that two prosecution witnesses — the Reynolds' housemaid and a Chinese police major — had given false evidence.

Steele declared Liu was looking for something other than money while he watched Mrs. Reynolds.

Reynolds was freed in slaying of Chinese 'Peeping Tom'

TAIPEI (AP)—A U. S. Army court-martial today found Sgt. Robert G. Reynolds innocent of a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the killing of a Chinese Peeping Tom.

Americans in the courtroom applauded the verdict freeing the 42-year-old soldier from Colorado, Md., and Coatesville, Pa. Chinese spectators preserved a frigid silence.

The court of five colonels and three master sergeants reached its verdict after deliberating an hour and 35 minutes.

Rep. Mills Says Recent Appropriations Slashes Do Not Justify Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) said today he believes the appropriations cuts voted so far by the House will reduce spending not more than 250 million dollars in the year ahead.

"It's a terrible thing," he told a reporter, "that people have gotten the idea these cuts in appropriations will justify a reduction in taxes. Because so far the cuts will have very little effect on spending."

Mills is a senior Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles tax matters.

The House has passed 16 of the 14 money bills for fiscal 1958, starting July 1, cutting them about $1,400,000,000 below President Eisenhower's request.

But these cuts will not slice the same amount from Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending budget — which House tax experts have forecast will go up to nearly 73 billions despite Congress' efforts to cut appropriations sharply.

Much of the spending in the year ahead will be out of past leading iron ore shipping port appropriations already available to the federal agencies.

In addition, some of the cuts voted by the House probably will have to be put back early next year in supplemental bills. These involve such things as public assistance grants and veterans' benefits which are fixed obligations.

Mills plans a series of hearings next month as chairman of the fiscal policy subcommittee of the Senate-House Economic Committee.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he never would approve tax cutting with the budget in such precarious balance as it is now. He said spending was running ahead of estimates in some agencies for the current fiscal year.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) told newsmen after the news conference that he doubted whether Congress would vote this year to cut taxes. But he still voiced optimism that a reduction will be ordered next year and made retroactive to next Jan. 1.

Cleveland, Ohio, is the world's second largest iron ore shipping port and one of the great industrial centers of America.

French Halt Finance Aid For Tunisia

PARIS (AP)—France has suspended all financial aid to Tunisia because of the open support in that former French protectorate for the rebellion in Algeria.

A government announcement last night said Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Faure had notified the Tunisian ambassador two days ago the promised aid would be blocked.

France had planned to extend $34,500,000 in credit to Tunisia for 1956-57. The first installment was to have been furnished this week.

The Algerians have found "unofficial" refuge and medical aid across the Tunisian frontier. High-placed figures in the Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN) operate freely in Tunis.

The FLN issued a communique in Tunis yesterday saying 52 French troops have been killed in a battle in the Bou-Zegza Mountains in central Algeria. It said two Algerian rebels had been killed.

French headquarters in Algiers issued a communique referring to an engagement in the same region. It said 70 rebels had been killed and gave French losses as dead and 19 wounded.

Haiti won its independence from France in 1804.

Boy Shoots Mother, Sister

MANORVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Seven-year-old Benny Hooper may take his first steps today, six days after being rescued from the bottom of a 24-foot well.

Young Benny had hoped to be up and around yesterday, but he was allowed only to sit in an armchair for a brief period. He is at Bayview Hospital, Mastic Beach.

Dr. Joseph H. Kris, his physician, said Benny would probably go home Friday or Saturday, depending on his progress. He said Benny still has a slight cough from bronchial inflammation.

Gifts, Mail Pour In

Gifts and mail for young Benny continue to pour in at the hospital. Among the gifts are a battery-powered toy car big enough to ride in.

Dr. Kris said yesterday that Benny doesn't "actually remember" his 23½-hour ordeal, and probably never will. Kris said Benny may seem to remember in the future but "this will be mostly due to mental images from what he hears and what he reads about what happened to him."

At neighboring Garden City, N.Y., the Community Developers' Council, an organization of Long Island builders, yesterday presented "hometown hero" awards to five men who helped save Benny.

Given $300 Each

Each of the five also was given $300 to further the education of his own children or some other child.

They were Sam Woodson, Negro construction worker from Riverhead, N.Y., the first man to reach Benny; Edward Gudzinski, chief of the Riverhead fire department; John Stachnik of the Eastport, N.Y., fire department; Gus Formals, Manorville fire department; and Alex Pendick, Center Moriches, N.Y., fire department.

shooting everybody," the father cried.

The first policeman to arrive found that Andrew was still up stairs with the rifle.

"Throw the gun down boy," the officer demanded, threatening to shoot if the order was disobeyed.

The boy let the gun fall down the stairs. He then walked down slowly and surrendered meekly.

Sheila was taken to United Hospital at Port Chester, near this New York City commuter suburb, where she died a short time later.

The father was taken to the hospital about the same time to be treated for his heart attack.

Andrew was taken to the Grasslands Hospital at East View, N.Y., for psychiatric examination under court order. He was charged with juvenile delinquency. Police said that because of his age this was the only charge that could be lodged.

Police and neighbors of the Caseys in the middle-class neighborhood near Long Island Sound said Andrew had a reputation as a good boy and a hard worker who often delivered papers and cut lawns.

A third Casey son, Shawn, is a student at St. Lawrence University, Canton, N.Y.

Humphrey's Resignation As Treasury Head Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—In West Berlin, in 1948, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor for Germany, glowered across a huge desk at the civilian just arrived from the United States.

In New York, in 1952, President Dwight Eisenhower told that same Gen. Clay, by then a civilian, "I need a man used to doing BIG things, handling BIG amounts of money."

"I've got just the man for you," he said. "George M. Humphrey. He'll make you a fine secretary of the treasury."

In Office Four Years

Today, in Washington, Humphrey is packing his bags after a little more than four years as one of the most important men in the administration.

The announcement of his resignation will come as a surprise to almost no one. It will come as a disappointment to many.

Unless most Washington prophets are looking into clouded crystal balls, Humphrey will be succeeded by Robert B. Anderson, former deputy secretary of defense.

Anderson, a native of Texas, is an "Eisenhower Democrat." He also is a close associate of Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader.

When and if he does take over the Treasury post, Anderson will be faced with the same tight money problem that has plagued Humphrey. The increasing demand for money has the government scurrying in its efforts to refinance the national debt. That debt stands at about 273 billion dollars, and about 70 billion of it comes due every year.

Higher Interest Rates

The government has had to offer higher and higher interest rates on the money it needs to keep the debt "turning over."

Tight money or no, Humphrey has maintained that the government must seek its money at the going rates.

Critics claim this raises the interest rates all around and makes rich bankers richer. Defenders insist this is better than cranking up the printing presses every time the government needs money.

Whatever the solution, Humphrey will be glad to be out of it. When he took the job he planned to stay for two years. He is two years beyond that self-imposed limit already.

Elsa Maxwell Party Planned For Birthday

PARIS (INS)—Elsa Maxwell, international queen of party-givers, will be given quite a party herself in Paris tomorrow to celebrate her 74th—or is it 73th—birthday.

The party will be given at the Paris residence of Mr. and Mrs. Norman K. Winston, and many of the most noted figures of the "international set" will attend.

Miss Maxwell smiled mischievously when reminded today there is some question as to exactly what birthday it is. Some people, she acknowledged, claim it's her 73th.

"But they're wrong," she grinned. "It's my 74th. I was born May 24, 1883."

"All the doctors are trying to find out what keeps me young. I've defied age. I'm twice as young in heart as most people. I know half my age. I'm a complete optimist. I love living. It's an art."

Miss Maxwell said that what "destroys peoples" is that they don't know how to live.

Jewish Couple's Fight To Keep Adopted Child Enters Decision Stage

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The long struggle of a Jewish couple to keep their Catholic-born foster daughter in defiance of Massachusetts law reached a showdown today.

Melvin Ellis, 45, and his wife, Frances, 35, were called before Gov. Leroy Collins on an extradition hearing.

The governor's decision will determine whether the Ellises must face kidnapping charges in Massachusetts or may remain in Florida and keep the blonde, blue-eyed Hilidy McCoy.

The couple gave up their home and a dry-cleaning business in Brookline, Mass., and fled to Miami Beach after the Massachusetts Supreme Court ruled in 1955 they must give up the 6-year-old child because of different religious backgrounds.

The child's natural mother, Mrs. Marjorie McCoy Doherty, gave Hilidy up for adoption 10 days after her birth. She learned later that the Ellises were Jewish and demanded that Hilidy be returned to her under a Massachusetts law which says children "when practicable" shall be placed for adoption with parents of the same faith.

The courts ruled for Mrs. Doherty, but the Ellises disappeared with the child.

The Hiss Book

ALGER HISS, out of federal prison after conviction on charges of lying about passing documents to the Communists in the late 1930's, is now stirring the embers of the case in his new book, "In the Court of Public Opinion." Some people, in making argument, try to anticipate and explain away every contention of their opponents. Hiss has not chosen to do this but instead to ignore much of the case against him. In this instance the technique hardly strengthens the plausibility of his defense. A principal thing to remember, too, is that the arguments which Hiss today presents in his book have all been offered to the courts before in various motions for a new trial. In every case they have been carefully weighed and rejected as insufficient to justify a reopening of the issues. The most damaging evidence against Hiss was the possession by Whitaker Chambers, former Communist agent, of State Department papers whose typing matched that of Mrs. Hiss on a Woodstock typewriter the Hisses owned.

CHAMBERS ALSO produced notes of State Department matters acknowledged by all to be in Hiss' handwriting. And he demonstrated in many ways that he had a close relationship with the Hiss family, having lived at their house and received many favors. In his book Hiss seeks to destroy the idea of a close link by arguing that Chambers erred in various details about the Hiss life. But careful students of the case point out that inaccuracies or inadequate recollections do not disprove the close tie so long as Chambers' other memories of the defendant's home life stand substantially unchallenged. The evidence of the handwritten notes Hiss dismisses by suggesting they were stolen from his desk or files at the department. He reserves his biggest guns for the typed documents, arguing that Chambers somehow was able to imitate the characteristics of the Hiss typewriter by building a machine which would duplicate its peculiarities. On this machine he is alleged to have typed the so-called Baltimore documents.

ONE TYPEWRITER specialist now says such fabrication is possible. But at the time Hiss presented an actual fabricated typewriter in support of his theory and of a new trial motion, the government offered numerous affidavits from experts, including the manufacturers of the Hiss Woodstock, which sought to knock down the idea. Furthermore, even if Chambers had managed the fabrication, it would have been pointless in the 1930's when he presumably had access to the original typewriter, and in 1948, when the whole affair came to light, there was no evidence Chambers did plant or could have planted the fabricated machine where the Hiss lawyers would find it. By the arguments he is now making, Hiss seems unlikely to sway public opinion any more than he was able to persuade the courts which have listened to this case again and again and again.

TVA Here To Stay

PRESIDENT Eisenhower apparently looks with more favor on the Tennessee Valley Authority than formerly. When running for president in 1952, he described it as "creeping socialism." His opponents, early in his administration, backed the Dixon-Yates power contract which would have cut in on the TVA activities. This project at first had administration backing, but was later withdrawn. Now, in a recent press conference, the President was asked whether he agreed with the United States Chamber of Commerce's wish to have the TVA sold to private interests. His reply was: "Theoretically you can make a very great case for it. I do not believe that, practically, it is feasible, and I don't anticipate any action along that line whatsoever." Any such action would surprise the outside world. Other nations have paid the TVA the flattery of imitation. Multiple-purpose dams like those on the Tennessee river have been established on the Dnieper river in Russia, and are planned for the Jordan valley in Israel, to name only two examples of the spread of the idea. Apparently, as far as can be seen now, the TVA is here to stay.

Will Election Reform Bills Have Chance?

WASHINGTON—You may remember, unless your memory is as hazy as that of many members of Congress, the excitement a year ago about lobbying and campaign contributions by special interests with a stake in government.

Maybe you wonder what has happened to the demands, both from the public and from within Congress, for stricter regulation of campaign contributions and for a full accounting of all the money contributed and spent so that we may know from whom and what interests it comes.

There was then on the Senate calendar a bill by Senator Thomas H. Hennings to revise and strengthen the election laws covering both primary and general elections. In fact, it has been reposing on the Senate calendar for a whole year after approval by committee.

But Congress adjourned last year without doing anything about it. Some realists were brash enough to suggest that members of Congress and party managers hardly could be expected to show much enthusiasm for a law that might cut down campaign contributions for both the Presidential and Congressional elections then just ahead.

HOW RIGHT they were we saw in the detailed report of contributions and expenditures of the 1956 elections compiled by the Senate Campaign Fund Investigating Committee under the direction of Senator Albert Gore.

The report showed how millions were poured into both the Presidential and Congressional campaigns by all sorts of interests which are trying to get special treatment from the Eisenhower Administration and Congress.

Gore's report was published last February 3. Less than a month later, on March 1, the Senator introduced a comprehensive bill to limit campaign contributions and expenditures and require full publicity of contributions and expenditures from all sources which the present law, with its many loopholes, "fails miserably" to do, he said.

Where is the Gore bill? That's easy—slumbering peacefully in the Privileges and Elections Subcommittee of the Senate Rules Committee, as is also Hennings' bill. Both Senators have asked the subcommittee chairman, Senator Mike Mansfield, won't he please do something about it?

MANSFIELD was sought out by this reporter and asked how come. He said he had been tied up with other matters. He is assistant Senate Democratic leader under Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who has delegated to Mansfield more chores than usually fall to the assistant leader.

Johnson has exhibited little interest in a new campaign law with teeth in it. He could have brought such a bill up in the last Congress, Democratic-controlled as is the present one, had he chosen.

Mansfield said he intends to bring the election law reform bills before his subcommittee for consideration, but will be unable to do this until next month, as he must go back to Montana later this month. He was doubtful of final action in the Senate this session.

He felt a measure probably would get no further than approval by the committee and a report to the Senate, with final action not possible until the second session of this 85th Congress. That would put it just before another election—the 1958 Congressional elections—to risk the same apathy that Congress showed last year.

THE MOVEMENT to enact an adequate campaign law might have gotten a boost from a final report expected late this week or early next week from the committee headed by Senator John McClellan that investigated the oil and gas lobby last season—that is, if the committee had gone into campaign contributions by the oil and gas industry to campaigns of Senators.

But though that McClellan inquiry grew out of a contribution of $2,500 by the Superior Oil Company of California to the campaign of Senator Francis Case, which he rejected and exposed on the Senate floor, the McClellan committee showed no curiosity at all about campaign contributions to other Senators, of which there were a number.

THIS MIGHT be described as "Senatorial courtesy." In fact, the Arkansas Senator showed in that lobby inquiry none of the energy and zeal which he has been showing in his current investigation into the affairs of Dave Beck and the Teamsters Union.

The "arrogant lobby," as President Eisenhower characterized the oil and gas lobby in vetoing the bill to exempt natural gas producers from Federal Power Commission regulation, was exposed to the extent of its expenditure of $2,000,000 in its so-called "education campaign for the bill."

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Except for the Indian on the nickel coin of the United States of America—a coin which more and more seems to be becoming obsolescent—the only Indians I know anything about are Mexican Indians and these are fine, sturdy fellows who will take no nonsense but eagerly give their friendship when the other man will come half-way.

I have known Mexican Indians to be belligerent but only because in their way and in their estimation, some gringo was invading their dignity.

There is no intention of getting into a squabble with anybody but, with a certain understanding of mountain and jungle Indian ways, I always wonder about visiting Americans who get themselves assassinated.

I WOULD NOT walk open-eyed into a painful and delicate situation but, before we rile up over the South American jungle Indians who slew five white missionaries some months ago, has it ever occurred to any of us that perhaps these Indians resented the changes in their lives and faiths that the missionaries were imposing?

Jungle Indians are not complex. They are simple—not "stupid" simple, but "thinking" simple. For generations they had had ways of life and religion which sufficed them and gave them satisfaction.

Into those fixed ways, for which there seemed no occasion justifying change, five men began buzzing in overhead with an airplane and trying to teach them an alien faith.

"Simple" thinking goes this way: if something irritates you, get rid of it. Our 20th Century morals and mores did not fit into that kind of thinking. Hence: five murders.

IN A MUCH smaller way, and less violent, Certo Fwei, an Otomi I know, had a "way." I ran into him at the pyramids outside Mexico City. He was a vendor of fake idols to gullible tourists. I went out to Teotihuacan early one morning to study some foundations and some carvings. Certo came over to the car with a bland smile and a basket arranged with obviously counterfeit little idols and the dubious "aging" had been done over a wood fire.

I told him, without heat or smugness, that these looked to be "idols para turistas," and didn't like it. He said he didn't "age" them and he did not like the implication that he, Certo Fwei, a man of substance in his village, would dupe anybody.

"But," I said, "these are not originals, so why are you angry? Let us meet as men and see some originals. That way we have common ground to walk on."

IN LESS THAN 10 minutes I was in Certo's hut looking at a beautiful collection of genuine idols, running around 400 to 600 years old. He was using them as models for the fakes. On a basis of common understanding and interest in real idols, we arrived in time at a friendship. In proof of which, a recent note from Certo:

"Muy conosido amigo: Cuando vengas? Tengo originales de mayor interes. Idolos de tesoro para muscos. Son para Vd. Vueltes? Carro? Cuando? En mi casa estan esperando a Vd. Pero originales!"

SS

Certo."

Which is a direct, simple note from a direct, simple man:

"Well known friend:

When are you coming? I have originals of major interest. Idols of museum kind of treasure. They are for you. Flying? Car? When? In my house they wait for you. But originals!"

Your servant,

Certo."

HEAVEN ONLY knows what Certo has found; digging about the pyramids. Almost certainly he has found original items I would not be allowed to remove from Mexico. Indeed, I should not remove them. But what is important is that I have made a friend of an Indian by treating him as directly as he treats—as one man to another man.

And what's more, he was, for a moment, once angry enough for violence.

Strange Way To Save Dough

WASHINGTON—Having read in the papers that Congress is in an economizing mood, I dropped in on the Senate to see what the gentlemen would decide about buying tungsten this government doesn't need.

This cost me (and you, too) $30,000,000 and I wish I'd stood in bed.

The history of this tungsten business is easy to understand. The government began buying for the emergency stockpile years ago American tungsten at about $20 a ton more than it costs in India, Brazil, or South Africa.

The idea not only was to get tungsten, but also to shore up the domestic tungsten mining industry, which had fallen on evil days.

So about a year ago our stockpile officials said they had tungsten running out of their ears. They said, in fact, that they had more than enough tungsten to fight a full-sized war for five years. That, as wars go, is a long time.

FAIR enough, the House of Representatives decided. It knocked $30,000,000 out of the third supplemental appropriation to buy strategic metals, mostly tungsten. This bill then went to the Senate and that's where I came in.

Senator Frank Lausche had the floor, and what he couldn't understand was why anybody worried about tungsten. If we've got all the tungsten we need, then why buy more?

"Three days ago one of the officials of an American tungsten company came to my office," he added. "He told me about the enormous stockpile of tungsten the government already owns, and he said that if we continue this subsidy, his company would profit. But he told me that, as an American, he didn't want to take this money."

"Talk about cutting the budget. I know of no better place to begin. I simply can't understand how, in the face of our huge budget, you can justify expenditures of this kind."

—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

It is disgraceful that, despite all the arms and other facilities available to our security forces, a handful of bandits can roam the country with impunity and such incidents can occur.

—Iran Premier Manouchehr Eghbal, on ambush deaths of three Americans in Iran.

Reporter's Notebook

LAWRENCE, Kans. — Industry today can't get enough trained Indians, and the paleface is bidding higher for the Red Man's skill.

Here at Haskell Institute, where 900 ambitious young Indians from 85 tribes study for careers in a modern America, authorities haven't been able to meet the employment demand for graduates since 1940.

"We no longer have to look for jobs for our graduates," said Dr. Solon G. Ayers, superintendent. "Our trouble is in filling the requests. We have to pick and choose."

"Last year every one of our 114 vocational students was hired by commencement day. The highest starting salary was $6,875—the average was $3,100."

Haskell, the Red Man's Harvard since 1884, is proud of such famous graduates as athlete Jim Thorpe and the late Clarence J. Tinker, a flier who was the first American Indian to achieve the rank of brigadier general. He was killed in World War II.

BUT HASKELL is even prouder of the fact it has become a symbol of educational opportunity for Indians who want to compete on equal terms with the white man in his own culture.

"We hardly ever have a student who goes back to his reservation to live," said Dr. Ayers. "They may return home for a visit, but after a few days they want to leave."

"Reservation life no longer appeals to them. There is nothing there for them to do, and they get restless. They want to get back to their jobs."

Students at Haskell range in age from 14 to twenty-one. A few go on to college for professional study. But 80 per cent take an added two-year vocational course.

Discipline isn't as much of a problem as it is in most high schools. The teen-age Indians are a serious group.

The students come from 35 states and Alaska. They are motivated by a strong yearning to go beyond the pattern of their parents.

Thus Neva Running Wolf, 17, a Blackfoot from Browning, Mont., wants to become an office worker in a larger town. So do Jeanette Spotted Bear, 19, from the Crow reservation in Montana, and Pearl Bad Wound, 19, a Sioux from Igloo, S. D.

MISS MERLE JACK, 18, of the Tlingit tribe near Juneau, Alaska, aspires to be a secretary.

Dorothy Osceola, 20, a Seminole from the Florida Everglades who is the fifth member of her tribe ever to graduate from high school, plans to become a costume designer.

She is a descendant of Chief Osceola, who refused to make a treaty with the white men and whose tribal descendants technically still are at war with the United States.

Why don't the students want to go back to their reservations? All give the same answer: "It doesn't have the opportunities."

An exception is Willard Spotted Horse, 20-year-old student welder whose father, a Crow tribesman, operates an 1,800-acre ranch near Lodge Grass, Mont.

"I want to go home and in time take over my father's place," said Willard, who also is a prize-winning cowboy. "But this time here isn't being wasted. There is plenty of welding to do on a ranch."

WASHINGTON—Washington attorney Edward Bennett Williams has a hot three-circuit parlay—Dave Beck, Jimmy Hoffa and Frank Costello. The other day he had a jolting experience over the currently hottest of his entrees that almost unhorsed him.

The lawyer went to the Teamsters' building to pick up Beck and escort him to the Senate racket investigation. He asked the young woman on the switchboard to call the acquisitive Teamsters' president and inform him his attorney was waiting.

The plug-juggler put on a show of bright, intelligent interest. She informed Williams she had been following the hearings of the McClellan committee closely. The lawyer replied it was obvious that she was au courant.

She frowned a bit at this, but finally concluded no offense was intended. Then she tried to engage the eminent advocate in intellectual discourse.

She inquired if Mr. Beck was going to take the witness chair again, and the lawyer muttered that he was afraid so. Then she exploded a question that almost jarred the barrister out of his res adjudicata.

"Oh," she asked knowingly, "is Mr. Beck going to take the fifth commandment?"

THE TEAMSTERS' switchboarders must have a clubmate on the stenographic staff of Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, of California. The Kuchel helper had a list of touring newsmen from the west coast, each one of whom had had his picture taken individually on the Capitol steps with the Senator.

The shepherd in charge of the tour asked the young woman if she would get the pictures autographed by Senator Kuchel and mail them to the newsmen. He gave her a list of the youngsters' names and addresses. At the bottom of the list he added a couple of words, thinking her in advance.

A couple of days later the shepherd received a call from the damsel. "You've got one more name on this list than we have pictures," she told him. "And there's no address with this extra name either."

"Which name is it?" asked the tour guide.

"Merci Beaucoup," replied the lady.

VICE PRESIDENT Nixon has to make a decision in the next couple of days if he confides in one of the toughest he's ever had to face in his life.

Months ago he made a firm commitment to go to Bethany College, in Bethany, West Va., on June 2 to receive a degree. The other night, when he got home after a late round of official functions, he found this note from his youngest daughter Julie, pinned to his pillow:

"Dear Daddy: I was told today that you won't be here on June 2. That is the day of our Brownie (Cub Girl Scouts) daddy-daughter picnic."

"If you don't come with me, you will be the only Brownie Daddy who isn't there."

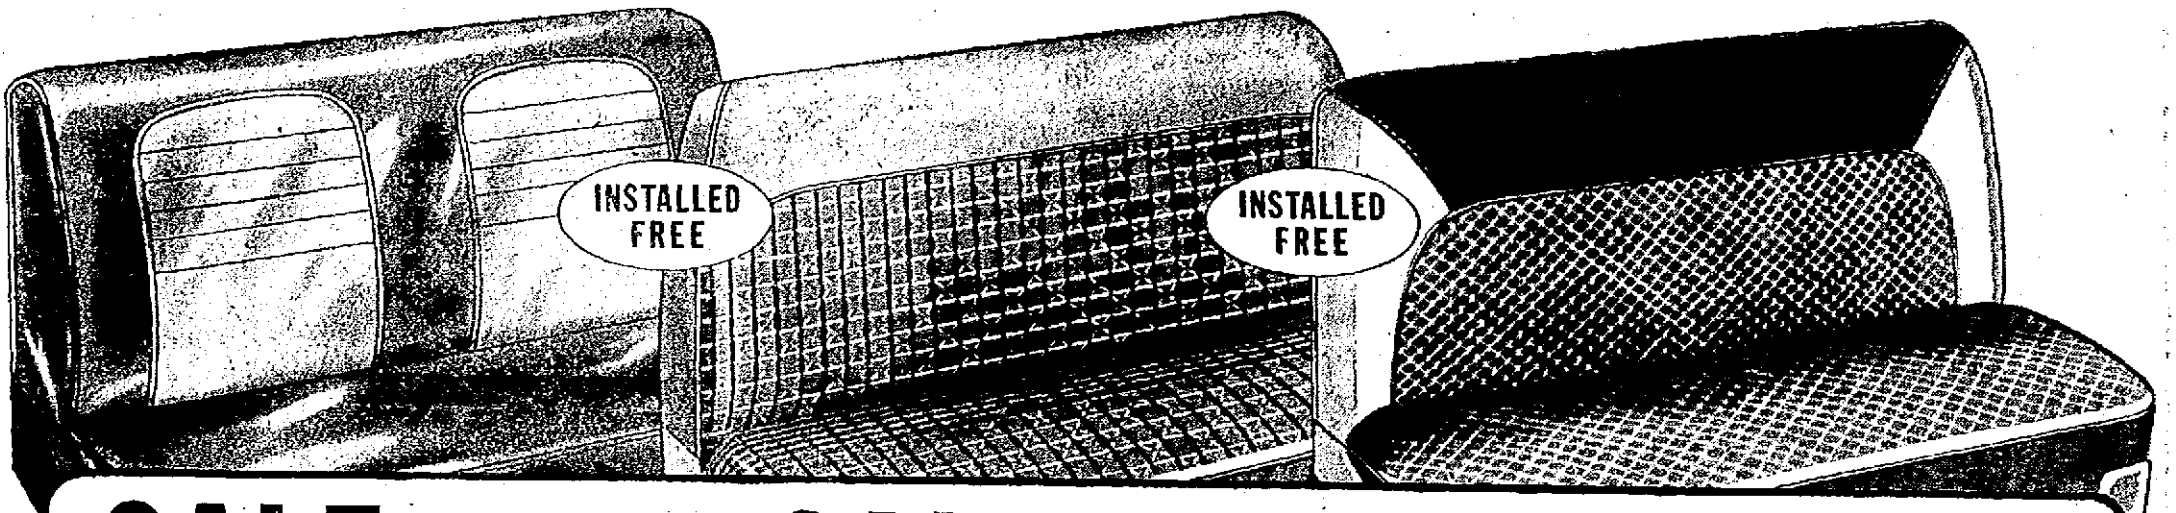

The Vice President says he's wrestling with his soul as to where his duty lies.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hartough, East McKeesport, Pa., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Challinor, Bedford Street.

Bowlers Will Hold Dinner Tomorrow

The Mixed Bowling League of the general office force of the Western Maryland Railway will hold its end-of-season dinner tomorrow at 6:15 p. m. at the LaVale Fire Hall. An entertainment program will follow.

Joseph F. Challinor, general chairman, is being assisted by John Robertson, Mrs. Sally Barry, Cedric Miller, Mrs. Virginia Shriver, Mrs. Roe Steininger, Melvin Dawson and John Krampl.

St. John's Class Holds Mother-Daughter Banquet

The fifth annual Mother-Daughter banquet of the Bethel Class of St. John's Lutheran Church was held a recent evening in the social hall of the church, with covers laid for 163 guests.

The theme of the program was "A Queen For An Evening." Mrs. Frederick J. Eckert, wife of a former pastor, was the speaker. Rev. Eckert is now serving the First English Lutheran Church, Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Albert Brant, president of the class, was toastmaster and Mrs. Russell E. Fink, wife of the pastor, gave the invocation. Mrs. Carl J. Eichner welcomed the guests. Mrs. Glenna Shelton, spiritual leader of the class, gave a brief talk.

The program included a song, "Spring Rain," by a trio of Carole Blackburn, Kay Ott and Barbara Mann, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Louise Fey. A short skit was presented by Mrs. Laura Murray and Mrs. Albert Beckman and Mrs. Margaret Bittner. Tributes were paid to Mrs. Raymond Brant Jr., youngest mother; Mrs. Robert Castleman, mother with the most children; and Mrs. John E. Beery, oldest mother. A "crown" of honor and a corsage was presented to each by Mrs. Shirley Webb.

The singing of "Silver Treads Among the Gold" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" concluded the evening.

Mrs. Tessie Aronholt was chairman of the program. The meal was prepared and served by the men of the church. They included Robert Jones, Norman White, Leroy Aronholt, Ray Hanne, Robert Mann, William Gilpin, John Hessel, John Murphy, Russ McGahey, James Squires, Fred Squares Sr., Albert Hood, Maurice Early, Albert Brant, John Keller, Robert Rizer, Lester Hulson, John Weber, Arthur J. Weber, R. K. Lathrum, Clarence Hoyle, Howard Hoyle and Cantrell Campbell.

Mapleside Club To Send Delegates To Short Course

The Mapleside Homemakers Club, at a meeting at the First E. U. B. Church, opened the program with the flag salute and group singing of "Faithful Lord Jesus," accompanied by Mrs. Bertha Frost.

Mrs. Frost was a guest, and Mrs. Erma Allison was welcomed as a new member.

It was announced that June 4 is the deadline for enrollment to Rural Women's Short Course. Mrs. Frank White is the club's only eligible graduate this year. The club voted to send two delegates, Mrs. Karl Taschenberger and Mrs. Joseph Kuhnman. Others planning to attend are Mrs. Helen Browne, Mrs. Forest Snider, Mrs. Charles Moore, and Mrs. Emory Showman.

Mrs. Howard Fisher spoke briefly on the chair caning class she attended, and if any members are interested she will form a class.

Mrs. James Weakley spoke on the Fair. The club voted to hold a demonstration on clothing and accessories from 3 to 5 p. m. Thursday, August 22.

Mrs. Ruth Jewell gave a report on new food products on the market.

Plans are being formulated to hold a picnic at the residence of Mrs. Showman, Thursday, July 18.

The Mizpah Bible Class of the First Baptist Church will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Gordon Miller, Cresaplow.

Local Member, NSA Installed Division Treasurer

Algonquin Chapter, NSA, was well represented at the Delaware-Maryland District of Columbia Division meeting last weekend in Hagerstown.

Ten members of the local chapter, the Misses Margaret Lester, Dorothy Campbell, Wanda Lee Hanks, Patricia Golden, Ellen Newman, Charlotte Burns, Garnett Fazenbaker and Mrs. Ann Hartung, Mrs. Reba White, delegate, and Mrs. Wilma Chenoweth, alternate, attended.

"May Moods" was the theme of the hostess chapter in Hagerstown. A May court was held at open house Friday night which was climaxed with the crowning of a king and queen. Welcome was extended by Winslow F. Burhans, Mayor of Hagerstown. Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, (R-Md.), extended the welcome to the members on Saturday morning. He was accompanied by his wife, who, he said, performed secretarial duties for him until recently.

Miss Rosa Miller, Southeastern vice president of the National Secretaries Association (International) gave a detailed report to the members.

A Mothers Day luncheon was held and several of the mothers from various chapters were honored.

A tour of Antietam battlefield and other points of interest was conducted during the afternoon. One of the highlights of the meeting was the talk at the "Spirit of '76 Banquet," Saturday evening by Mrs. Lucile N. Boyd, training officer, Personnel and Training Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, who discussed the secretary and her importance as a link in management's chain. She stressed the importance of communicating with people and listening to what they say.

Miss Miller installed the new officers of the Division. They are: Miss Shirley Barlow, of Capital Chapter, Washington, President; Mrs. Marie Lehnert, Monumental Chapter, Baltimore, secretary; Miss Margaret Lester, Algonquin Chapter, treasurer.

Many prizes were awarded throughout the meeting and Mrs. Chenoweth, Miss Burns, Miss Hanks, and Miss Campbell were recipients of some of these.

The 1958 Division meeting will be held in Washington at the Mayflower Hotel, May 16, 17 and 18, with Executive Chapter as hostess.

B-Natural Junior Music Club Meets

The B-Natural Junior Music Club gave a program at the home of Beth Blough, Park Heights, a recent evening. Five new members were enrolled.

After a brief business meeting, conducted by Nancy Beachley, a program of Russian music was presented. Mrs. Kenneth Wolf, director, entertained with a piano solo and Mrs. Howard Irwin led group singing of Russian folk songs.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. B. L. Blough. Attending were Paula Angle, Melinda Black, Patsy Cawley, Tom Cawley, Connie Brings, Jean Taylor, Eleanor Taylor, Inez Foosse, Edward Barger, David Donski, Howard Irwin, Nancy Beachley, Cynthia Gunter, Joyce Hendrickson, Howard Kruth, Cheryl Thomas, Robert Sutton, Norma Prackel, Beth Blough, and Mrs. Elmer Beachley and Mrs. Paul Angle, counselors.

Women Engineers

Women comprise about 25 percent of Russia's engineering manpower roll while only one percent of the engineers in the United States are women.

First Baptist Women Hold Supper Event

The Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church held a covered dish supper for members, the church Brotherhood and all auxiliaries a recent night at the church.

The meeting opened with the singing of the hymn, "Faith of Our Mothers." Mrs. H. R. Matlick gave the devotional and the Scripture lesson.

Mrs. Gilbert Markwood presented the program on the topic, "Broken Cisterns." Taking part were Joan Markwood, Christine Kennell, Rita Miller, Mrs. Howard Graham and Mrs. Robert Young. "Living Waters" was given by Mrs. Markwood; "Materialism," by Mrs. Walter Alexander; Mrs. S. M. Alley, "Worldliness," and Mrs. Matlick, "Secularism." The program closed with the singing of "Into My Heart."

Mrs. Wilbur Pullin, community mission chairman, reported on missions and the prayer service held recently at the County Home.

Miss Mary Moxley gave the treasurer and stewardship reports; Mrs. Carl Herpich the White Cross sewing report; and Jaqua Day reported on Youth Week.

Mrs. Herpich asked members to bring an article for a baby layette to the next circle meeting.

A report was made on the cottage prayer meetings held each night preceding the recent revival services. Mrs. Young reported on the visits to the shut-ins and closed with prayer.

Others attending were Mrs. A. C. Prevaille, Mrs. J. B. Judy, Mrs. Barbara Rexroad, Mrs. H. T. Humphreys, Mrs. Goldie H. Loney, Mrs. A. D. Sherman, Mrs. Earl Gross, Mrs. Earl Gauntz, Miss Marie Williams, Miss Orpha Boggs and Miss Erna Paul.

Lurana Unit Plans Visit In Virginia Cave

Lurana Unit AVMC met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Geiger, Narrows Park, with Brother Nicholas, moderator, giving a short talk on the meaning of "Charity."

It was decided to hold a dance tomorrow night at the Knights of Columbus Hall for the benefit of St. Stephen's Church, Grantsville, the unit's mission church. The dance will be open to the public. The Martha Norris Nuttens orchestra will play.

Members of the unit with Brother Nicholas as guide will visit the caves in Virginia on Memorial Day.

Others attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lindsay, Mrs. James E. Robinson, Mrs. John Burke and Mrs. V. DeArcangelis.

Gleaners Class Holds Meeting

The Scripture Gleaners Class of the Cresaplow Methodist Church met at the home of Libby Robinette.

A new member, Mrs. Mary Cage, was introduced and welcomed to the class.

A thank-you card from Charles Robinette was read. Refreshments were followed by a social hour. Attending were Ruth Johnson, Betty Kimmell, Ethel Thompson, Mary Cage, Juanita Walcott, Libby Robinette, Margaret Rowe, Freda Crowe, Pauline Winters, Luane Rowe and Charles Robinette.

District VFW Auxiliaries Plan Encampment Sunday

The Ladies Auxiliaries of District 3, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will elect officers at the District Encampment this Sunday at 2 p. m. at the John H. Fairgrieve Post Home, Frostburg.

Mrs. Marguerite Lashley, district president, will preside. Officers will be installed by Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, Department of Maryland senior vice president.

Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman, Cumberland, past district president, is general chairman of the Encampment.

Delegates representing the Auxiliaries of Cumberland, Frostburg, Hagerstown, McCoole, Mt. Savage, Oldtown and Lonaconing will attend. All chairmen are required to have their reports ready for presentation.

Guests, besides Mrs. Reynolds, will be Mrs. Alice Miller, Mrs. Grace Cross and Mrs. Grace Rosenberg, all of Cumberland; Mrs. Audrey Barger and Mrs. Julia Risher, Hagerstown, hospital chairmen for Baker V.A. Center, Martinsburg; Mrs. Helen Stevens and Mrs. Vera Nave, Frostburg; and Mrs. Jennie Smith and Mrs. Iris Stowell, Mt. Savage, all past presidents of the District, and Mrs. Jean Steele, Lonaconing, Department Essay chairman.

Delegates will report at 1:45 p. m. A white elephant sale will be held with Mrs. Zimmerman in charge assisted by Mrs. Agnes Festerman and Mrs. Mildred Spiker, Frostburg.

A social will conclude the meeting with John R. Fairgrieve Auxiliary as hostess.

Events Briefly Noted

Red Cross Sets Annual Meeting Tomorrow Night

Alligany County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its annual meeting and election of directors tomorrow at 8 p.m. on the fourth floor of the Post Office building, according to C. M. Sanner, chapter chairman.

The program will open with the invocation by Rev. John F. Samuel, St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Rev. Mr. Sanner will welcome those attending, after which service awards will be made to a number of volunteer Red Cross people.

The nominating committee report and election of directors will follow, with reports on the 1957 fund campaign and annual summary of chapter activities concluding the session.

There are 17 members of the Red Cross board of directors to be elected at the meeting. Under a new program of selecting directors, the nominating com-

Scouts Plan Camporee For This Weekend

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will sponsor a camporee this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the new Cumberland Girl Scouts Camp near Flintstone.

Approximately 600 boys and their adult leaders and advisors are expected to attend this year's camporee.

William G. Barger, chairman of the Explorer Post No. 10 committee, will be camporee director, and H. H. Lowery, district camping and activity chairman, will be assistant director.

The various scouts will vie for points on camping skills in various forms of competition against camping standards set up by the Boy Scouts. Most of the competition will be on a patrol basis, but the judging of camp sites will be done Saturday afternoon by members of the Nemacolin District Commissioner's staff, headed by Miles G. Thompson.

Registration and check-in will be handled by Explorers from various posts of the council, under the direction of Kenneth Stone, advisor of LaVale Post 10.

A field meet involving scouting skills will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. Points toward final awards will be given for participation and winning an event.

Charles D. Smith, neighborhood commissioner, will be in charge of the field meet.

Campfires will be held on a district basis on Friday night and a campfire is planned Saturday night for the entire camporee. Robert Moreland will be master of ceremonies for the camporee campfire.

Annual Meeting Of Girl Scouts Slated Tonight

Cumberland Council, Girl Scouts of America, will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the Girl Scout House, 72 Greene Street, according to Mrs. George J. Miller, president.

A pictorial presentation of next year's budget will be given by the finance committee in preparation for the new fiscal year and the expanded county-wide Girl Scout program under the United Fund plan.

The membership-nominating committee will present a slate of delegates to the national council meeting to be held in Philadelphia November 11-15, and for one member-at-large on the Girl Scout board of directors.

Committee reports will be given by the chairman of program, camping, training, international, Juliette Low and cookie sale committees. During a short "buzz" session, the groups will discuss the recommendation from various committees as a guide to the board in setting up next year's schedule of events.

The meeting is to be opened with a flag ceremony presented by a group of Girl Scout leaders.

1957 AHS Yearbook Distributed

The 1957 Allegany, Allegany High School yearbook, has been distributed.

Edited by Carol Isminger and Patty Smith, under the advisement of Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, the yearbook was dedicated to Arthur W. Taylor, head of the mathematics department.

The cover, designed by the art editor, Thomas Matlick, is plain except for the year and the name of the book. The first section—dedicated to the theme, "Reflections," the dedication and the faculty—was laid out by the co-editors.

A new feature of the section is "teacher superlatives." Martha Miller and Louise Mirkin, senior class editors, enlarged the senior class pictures. A class history written by Donna Dick, and a senior directory complete the senior section.

The biggest change in the yearbook is the addition of individual underclassmen's pictures. This work was completed by Kaye Ort and Sharon Reighard.

George Spels and Sheila Fram, co-editors of the organizations, directed work on that section with a flag ceremony presented by a group of Girl Scout leaders.

The music section was under the direction of Ann Decker and Elizabeth Murray and is composed of 22 pages of senior and junior high music organizations. Another attraction is the 16th page feature section. Composed by Dorothy Vose and Lois Lee, charge on work on the ads and calendar forms the theme. Baby pictures, superlatives and sion pages was done by Thomas

NOTICE TO QUALIFIED CITY VOTERS

A few years ago, the tax limit on the City property tax was 90c per $100 worth of property, today it is $1.25. Last year your total city tax rate was $1.58 per $100 worth of property, this year under "Charter Amendment Resolution No. 5" of the Mayor and City Council, the rate could go beyond $1.80. If you would like to vote on this Charter Amendment be sure to cut out, the "Petition for Referendum" below. Sign your full name clearly and mail to P. O. Box 36 or deliver to Room 412 Liberty Trust Building.

These petitions will be turned over to the Mayor and City Council before June 1, 1957 so do not delay. Sign and mail Today!

PETITION FOR REFERENDUM

TO THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND:

We, the undersigned, each of whom is a qualified voter in the City of Cumberland, hereby request and petition for a referendum on "Charter Amendment Resolution No. 5" passed by the Mayor and City Council on April 22, 1957, which Resolution, if it becomes effective, would amend Section 81 (b) of the Charter of this City and authorize the Mayor and City Council to raise the tax rate on the assessable property of this City from a limit of $1.25 on each $100.00 of said assessable property to a limit of $1.80 on each $100.00 of said property; in addition to the customary levy of such taxes as necessary to cover the requirements of the City's bonded indebtedness.

Darling, I'm having the most extraordinary experience

I'm head over heels in DOVE!

No, darling—DOVE. D—like in delicious.

I told you, sweet. I'm in the tub. Taking a bath. A DOVE bath—my very first.

And what a positively gorgeous time I'm having! It's just as if I'd never really bathed before!

No, dear, it isn't a soap. Soap was never like this! So wickedly creamy. That man on TV said that DOVE is one-quarter cleansing cream—that it creams my skin while I bathe—and now I really believe him.

Just imagine, darling. I'm all over cream.

Cream tip to toe. Arms. Legs. All of me!

And clean! I'm simply smothered in suds. Oodles of suds! Oceans of. I don't know what I ever did to deserve DOVE!

And you know how soap leaves your skin so dry? That nasty stretched feeling? Well, DOVE makes me feel all velvet and silk, all soft and smooth. Just the most pampered, most spoiled, girliest girl in the world. Darling, I'm purring.

And did I tell you DOVE is sort of me-shaped? That it's curved to fit my hand, so it doesn't keep slithering away in the tub? Soap is soap, but a bath with DOVE is heaven!

And just think, darling—tomorrow night, I can do it again.

DOVE creams your skin while you bathe

NOTE TO EAVESDROPPERS

You can buy the remarkable new bath and toilet bar called DOVE today. DOVE is a completely new formula. DOVE makes rich lather in hardest water. DOVE leaves no bathtub ring. Lever Brothers guarantee that DOVE is better for your face, your hands, all of you, than regular toilet soap. If you don't agree, we'll give you back every penny you paid.

Wall Street Hears.....

NEW YORK (INS) — Wall Street Hears:

Diamond Alkali 1957 net is not likely to top the 1956 net of $3.83 a share, a record. Unless consumer industries demand picks up, the company "may be hard pressed to avoid a modest reduction."

Standard Oil of Ohio expects an 8 to 10 per cent increase in sales and operating net this year over last year, when income was $5.35 a share. First quarter rate of gain in income—about 20 per cent over last year—will not be maintained, however.

American-Marietta will consider a dividend increase later this year, via either an increase in the quarterly rate or a stock split. It presently pays 30 cents quarterly.

Increased interest in Kropp Forge attributed to substantial increase in net with profits estimated at 70 per cent for fiscal year ending July 31, compared with 47 cents in previous 12 months.

Warner Bros. has acquired more than 47,000 shares of its own stock at cost of more than $1.1 million.

Howard County Board Votes Teacher "Bonus"

ELLCOTT CITY, Md. (A) — A fourth Maryland county has approved a "bonus" for public school teachers.

The Howard County Board of Commissioners yesterday joined the ranks of those counties waiting to see what action will be taken next winter on the $400 statewide teacher raise vetoed by Gov. McKeldin after the 1957 Legislature.

McKeldin contended the pay problem was up to the local governments. The lawmakers will have a chance to override his veto at the 1958 General Assembly.

The Howard County commissioners approved a $200 across-the-board "bonus." It will take effect in September and will run at least until the end of calendar year 1958.

The bonus will raise the starting salary of qualified instructors to $3,600 and will enable them to work up to $5,300 in 15 years. Total cost for the 16-month period runs to about $73,000.

About $21,000 will be paid for out of surplus funds of the county board of education. The remaining $52,000 will be written into next county budget.

Other counties which have approved bonus plans in hopes of keeping their teaching staffs intact are Talbot, Queen Annes and Caroline on the Eastern Shore.

Baron To Attend State Conference

Morris Baron, local attorney, will attend a meeting of the Governor's Commission for the Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency in Baltimore May 31 through June 2.

Baron has been a member of the commission since it was formed about a year ago, and was appointed to serve on the Family Life and Juvenile Court Services committees.

He said the committees are expected to present reports and recommendations at the three-day session for a program to combat juvenile delinquency.

Governor McKeldin will be one of the speakers at the conference and Thomas J. S. Waxter, chairman of the Department of Public Welfare and of the commission, will preside at the sessions in the Stafford Hotel, Baltimore.

Growing Project

TATAMAGOUCHIE, N. S. (A) — The Nova Scotia festival of arts this year will run for four days, from Aug. 17 to 20, helping to boost the tourist attractions of the Northumberland shore area. In its first appearance last year the show ran two days.

STOP TESTS — Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of a defense appropriations subcommittee, has joined the list of those calling for an end to the testing of hydrogen bombs. Mahon, however, would continue testing atomic weapons "since any war we fight will probably be atomic."

Local To Nominate

Local 616 of the Laborers Union will nominate officers at a meeting today at 7:30 p. m. at the Labor Temple. The election will be held June 24-25.

Business News Briefs

NEW YORK (INS) — The magazine Printers' Ink reported today a three per cent rise in national advertising in the first quarter of 1957 this year. Newspaper lineage, however, dropped one per cent.

ALBANY, N. Y. (INS) — New York Central Railroad President Alfred E. Perlman told the annual shareholder meeting today that if the nation's "archaic" rail regulations can be geared to present day technology and economies, the industry can quickly regain its rightful place among the most progressive U. S. industries. Stockholders were taken on a tour via closed circuit television of key elements in the line's re-building program, including the new research center at Cleveland and the new push-button, radar-controlled yards at Buffalo.

CLEVELAND (INS) — A leading Wall Street investment economist today claimed there is "a rising tide of evidence that the 1956-57 lows for the prominent stock indices were established in February. Harold X. Schreder, vice president of Group Securities, Inc., conceded that "the need for a short term correction in the stock market remains." But he said "any additional business and market changes during 1957 should be relatively moderate."

NEW YORK (INS) — The Institute of Life Insurance reported today that motor vehicle accidents in the first quarter of 1957 resulted in 11,000 death claims totalling $26,000,000, about $3 more than in the same period a year ago.

An hour ago the boy made a date—NOW HE'S GONE FOREVER

That's how it often happens—one moment, happy expectation... the next, a sudden heart-stabbing phone call from a stranger. A date cancelled—by brutal unexpected death on the highway.

Traffic accidents play no favorites. The victim could be the girl next door, the boy down the block, even one of your own family.

Last year, 40,000 died on American roads and highways. "Fate" had no hand in this terrible toll. For every traffic death, there's a reason: some driver disobeys a stop sign—disregards speed warnings—fails to stay alert and attentive.

Help stop this senseless waste of life—make our roads highways to happiness, not homicide!

Worker Appeals Ruling Of Accident Commission

An appeal has been filed in and was thrown backwards, in Circuit Court from a decision of juring his back. The State Industrial Accident Commission ordered the injured while at work at North employer and the Maryland Casualty Company, insurer, to pay $35 a week. According to the transcript of the Commission, Estel Reed, of 14 South Mechanic Street was employed as a steam fitter with Lloyd E. Mitchell Inc., a Baltimore concern. On February 1 of this year the Commission ordered the payments reduced to $25 per week. The appeal stated the claimant sustained a permanent partial disability of 40 per cent loss of pipe. He injured his knee while the use of his left leg.

Industrial Head Gets New Post

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Andrew V. Huckman, who resigned yesterday as executive director of the West Virginia Industrial and Publicity Commission, has accepted a position as managing director of the Southern Nevada Industrial Foundation at Las Vegas. The Moundsville native, who was 52 today, held the West Virginia post under three governors. He accompanied former Gov. Harlan on the latter's wide-spread travels seeking to attract new industry to the state. Huckman was appointed by former Gov. Okey L. Paterson Dec. 1, 1952.

Synod Re-elects Black President

Rev. Harvey W. Black, D.D., of Jeannette, Pa. was re-elected president of the Pittsburgh Synod of Evangelical and Reformed Churches during a closing session at the Salem P.R. Church in Frosburg yesterday. The term of office is four years. Rev. George T. Flitz, D.D., of Johnstown, Pa., was re-elected vice president while Rev. Eli R. Fabian, of Berlin, was named treasurer for another two-year term. Over 200 delegates representing 150 churches from the western sections of Maryland and Pennsylvania and members of local churches attended the 19th annual session which opened Tuesday.

Contract Qualification Plan Proposed To SRC

BALTIMORE (AP)—Contractors seeking State Roads Commission jobs would have to prove their qualifications before bidding under new regulations proposed to the commission yesterday. The regulations, recommended by Chief Engineer Norman Pritchett, were drawn up in cooperation with the Maryland Contractors' Assn. The proposed rules would require that:

1. The prime contractor list, before bidding, his equipment and qualifications instead of after being awarded a contract.
2. The prime contractor list the subcontractors he plans to use.
3. The subcontractors also be prequalified.

The commission held off action on the proposal pending further study by the members. Chairman Robert O. Bonnell said a decision would be made at the next meeting May 29.

In other action, the commission approved a request of the Wicomico County Roads Board for use of $22,600 in Federal Aid Secondary Funds. The county plans to spend the federal money on three projects — Forrest Grove road, Rockawalkin road and Mardela-Athol road. The total cost of the three projects will be $45,200 with the county supplying the remaining funds. Bonnell announced that a study of a third Baltimore-Washington highway has been approved. But he said the location has not been chosen and will not be considered for sometime. The study, he said, is only to determine the approximate cost of the highway for submission to the federal government under the federal aid to highways legislation.

Teentown Dance
To Honor Beall
High Graduates

FROSTBURG — A dance honoring the 1957 graduates at Beall High School has been planned by Teentown for June 5, starting at 10 p.m. A floor show at 11 p.m. will feature students of the Dixon Dance Studio. The Billy Cassell Trio will provide music.

The floors will be cleaned and refinished before the graduation dance. Following the show, refreshments will be served by members of the Adult Advisory Board.

Howard Duckworth, chairman of the board announced that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bender have been named sponsors of the organization for the month of June.

Persons wishing to serve as chaperones for one of the bi-weekly dances may phone 511-R.

Beginning June 12, dances at Teentown will be held Wednesday and Saturday evenings instead of Fridays and Saturdays.

On June 7 all students of the Eighth Grade will be permitted to attend their first dance at Teentown. This is called "Move Up Night" and, as there are over 200 students who will be eligible to become full-fledged members, the advisory board may be forced to restrict attendance at future dances to local students only.

Duckworth will be present at the "move up" dance to welcome new members to the organization. The next meeting of the board will be held in the clubrooms on June 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Father-Son Dinner
Held At Frostburg

Road Work Begins

Over 18 miles of slate roads in the county are receiving surface treatment of oiling and chipping. It was announced by Edward P. Kahl, roads engineer.

He listed 2.5 miles of Maryland Route 42, between Friendsville and the Pennsylvania line; 3.3 miles of Maryland Route 546, from Route 40 to Finzel; seven miles from Accident to Keyser; Ridge; 5.1 miles from Deep Creek to Loyds Road and .65 mile from the junction of Route 135 to Weber Crossing, all on U. S. Route 219.

Kahl said the 18.55 miles would require 54,275 gallons of asphalt and 3,041 tons of stone. The program is expected to take two weeks, providing weather is favorable.

There are approximately 163 miles of slate roads within the county.

Head Of Mt. City Lions Club

FROSTBURG — Edward P. Flanigan was elected president of the Frostburg Lions Club at a meeting last night in the Happy Hills Farm restaurant on Route 40, west of Frostburg.

Russell Keister was named first vice president; Paul Larus, second vice president; Philip K. W. Hartig, third vice president; Larry Shanor, secretary; William Eckhart, treasurer; T. J. O'Brien, lion tamer and John Jenkins, lion twister. E. Burnett Van Fossen and George Griffith were named directors for one year and Allen Shirader and Joseph Klosterman, two years.

Jesse F. Jacobs gave a report concerning a tract of land which the club is considering in the Sand Spring area for development as a recreation area. It was unanimously decided to award a $25 United States savings bond to the outstanding senior music student at Beall High School at commencement exercises this year. The winner will be selected by a committee composed of faculty members at the high school.

It was also decided that the club will purchase a second "walker" to be presented to the Health Clinic for the use of persons who have suffered injuries to their feet or legs and need support in exercising. A similar "walker" was presented to the clinic over a year ago by the club.

Guests attending the meeting last night were Harry Renwick of Grantsville, William France, Clearfield, Pa., and Charles Lewis, Eckhart.

Coffman Bid
Low On Dorm

MORGANTOWN — Ray C. Coffman, of Keyser, was low bidder today on the renovation of Davis Hall, men's dormitory, at Potomac State College.

Coffman entered a bid of $142,911. Other bidders on the project for which $105,000 was appropriated by the 1957 Legislature included:

W. A. Sherman of McLean, Va., $146,846; Therington Construction Co. of New Market, Va., $162,887; and Bain Construction Co. of Keyser, $168,000.

The bids were opened at West Virginia University by Dr. Irvin Stewart, University president, and President E. E. Church of Potomac State. Stewart said that the University Board of Governors has 30 days in which to accept or reject any of the bids.

Potomac State is a branch of the university.

However, Coffman's bid was in excess of the amount of money allocated for the project. He and the second low bidder, W. A. Sherman, McLean, Va., were asked to resubmit bids next Monday.

Homemakers To Hold Tea At 'The Pines'

MT. SAVAGE — Movie films on the subject of "Cancer Control" were shown to members and friends of the Mt. Savage Homemakers Club at their recent meeting.

The business session of the evening opened with the Lord's prayer, flag salute and home-makers collect.

Mrs. Frederick Miller reported on the hymn for the month, "Fairer Lord Jesus" and the song "I Love You, California."

Two new books were added to the reading library, "Face To Face With The Spring" by Faith Baldwin and Hammond's Pictorial Atlas of Scenic America.

The club voted to hold a demonstration at the Cumberland Fair if space is available; otherwise they will enter a booth under the theme "Extension On Parade."

An invitation was extended to the club to attend the county tea, June 4, at the Women's Civic Club House in Cumberland.

Transportation will be provided and those wishing to attend the tea will meet at the monument that date at 1:30 p. m.

The Mount Savage clubs annual tea will be held at "The Pines" June 26 with Mrs. Victor Trimble as hostess and Mrs. Sarah Carter, program chairman.

The hand-etched aluminum trays being sold by the club have been much in demand so more trays will be made June 5 and 6 at the fire hall. Anyone interested in purchasing a tray may contact any club member.

Birthday greetings were sung to Mrs. Gertrude Reeman. Mrs. Howard Huff received the monthly prize.

Brief Mention
St. Patrick's Catholic Church will sponsor a carnival on the church grounds June 19-22.

Old Hill Post 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will sponsor a card party in the VFW Home Monday at 8 p. m. Five hundred and setback will be played. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

Mrs. Bridget Williams is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Mrs. William Healy and Miss Mary Theresa Reagan, Washington, visited Mrs. Leona Reagan.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moran, Washington, visited Mrs. Kathleen Moran and Mr. and Mrs. George Derrick.

Information wanted concerning daughter of Randolph and Hattie (Clamline) Whitman, formerly of Junction, W. Va., by brother whom she has never seen. Phone Keyser 6061.

Engineers Elect Walter Jaworek New President

KEYSER—At a recent meeting held in the Science Hall of Potomac State College, area engineers elected officers for their recently formed Potomac Chapter of the West Virginia Society of Professional Engineers. The following registered professional engineers were named for the remainder of the year:

President, Walter A. Jaworek; vice president, Ray F. Small; secretary-treasurer, Harold J. Snyder; directors, Joseph Woodard, Joseph Moody.

Installation of officers will take place June 3 in the Science Hall. In addition to the above registered engineers present at the meeting were the following associate members and engineers in training: David Long, registered engineer; Robert Kirkroy, James Watson, Walter Frederick, Douglas Dixon, Berna Verkey, Chester Jenkins, Ray Coffman, James Renick and Albert Bowen.

Area engineers were informed that regular monthly meetings will be held the first Monday of each month.

Council Meets
The Mayor and Council at their regular meeting Tuesday tentatively agreed to "assist" C. A. Ludwick Sr. in the laying of water mains and sewer pipes to the Keyser Airport area owned by Ludwick, which he plans to develop into a residential housing project.

Although the area is out of the city limits to the south of Keyser, Ludwick said he would furnish the pipe if the city would dig some 2,900 feet of ditches.

However, council tentatively agreed to furnish the ditchdigger and other equipment "after hours" if Ludwick would pay for the labor. The entire arrangement is dependent on approval by the State Health Department and Water Commission and other state agencies.

Ludwick said his next step would be to contact these agencies to see approval of the project.

In little other action council granted permission to the Keyser Fire Department to block off Davis Street from Armstrong to Center streets June 5, 6, 7 and 8 for a street carnival which the firemen plan to hold in conjunction with their homecoming celebration.

To Take Course
PIEDMONT—Dr. Frank D. DeMarino, West Fairview Street, will take an advance course in the study of contact lenses the first two weeks in June at the Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago. During his absence Miss Florence Tinsley, secretary, will receive appointments at his office.

B&O Machinist Retires
WESTERNPORT — Patrick H. Griffin, 104 Main Street, was retired recently after serving 40 years with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad as a machinist. He became an employee of the railroad at Keyser on May 7, 1907. Although he had broken service, he was in the employ of the company for a total of 40 years.

Ruth Deniker Heads Valley Senior Hi-Y

LONACONING — The Senior Hi-Y of Valley High School met Monday afternoon and elected the following officers to preside for 1957-58:

Ruth Deniker, president; Dorothy Robertson, vice president; Nancy Colner, secretary; Mary Madeline Smith, treasurer; Virginia Clise, historian and Barbara Hamilton, treasurer.

They planned to hold an outing early in June.

At the mother-daughter dinner held recently by the Junior Tri-Hi-Y, new officers were announced as follows: Roberta Love, president; Betty Ann Kirkwood, vice president; Linda Poland, secretary; Deanna Sleight, treasurer; Kay Ann Green, historian, and Rita Duckworth, treasurer.

Miss Ida Orr, who has been confined to Memorial Hospital for the past several months, is now at home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. James Cathcart and daughter, Carla, have returned from Dover, Ohio, where they attended the birthday dinner of John J. Miller, a brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moses and daughter, Jean Lynn, left Tuesday for Denver, Colo., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Muir and family, formerly of there, for a week. They will then leave for Helena, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hothig and family left Tuesday for New York, enroute to England.

Debaters Get Scholarships
KEYSER — George Podelco, Piedmont and William Mitchell, Charleston, members of the Debate Club of Potomac State College, have been awarded two-year debate scholarships amounting to some $600 a year at Morris Harvey College, effective this fall.

The offer came from Dr. P. O. Wilson, debate coach at that college, who was impressed with their work at the annual Speech Festival held at Jackson's Mill. The festival was sponsored by the West Virginia Intercollegiate Speech Association. The club's coach is Jay V. Groves.

The two-ans, pre-law majors, will complete majors in political science at Morris Harvey before entering law school elsewhere.

Potomac State's team won over Shepherd and West Virginia State in the festival, emerging fifth. Top winners were West Virginia University, Marshall, Morris Harvey and Concord, all of whom had done extensive tournament debating all year.

Card Clubs Meet; Winners Named
MT. SAVAGE—The Cheerful Card Club met a recent evening at the home of Mrs. Leona Reagan. Prize winners were Miss Mary Murray, Mrs. Leona Reagan and Mrs. Alma Brailer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Adelaide Logsdon.

The Sunshine Card Club met at the home of Mrs. Helena Robbelle. Prizes were won by Mrs. Pearl King, Mrs. Leola Sullivan and Mrs. Stella Jeffries. The next meeting will be held May 28 at the home of Mrs. Rita Cunningham.

PTA Installs New Officers

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Paul Stevens, who was recently re-named president of the Hammond Street Parent-Teacher Association, was installed for the coming year at the regular meeting of the association at the school.

Other officers installed were Mrs. James Nichols, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph Prado, second vice president; Mrs. Elmer H. Will, third vice president; Mrs. Paul Daddysman, immediate past president, fourth vice president; Mrs. William Pleasant, secretary and Miss Ellowen Lipscomb, treasurer.

The holding of a regular meeting of the Westernport Council on the stage of the auditorium was a feature of the evening's program. In the absence of Mayor Okey Michael, Commissioner Ray L. Will presided and introduced the members of the council.

Principal business of the meeting was the report of Lee Haines, engineer for Grace and Glace, and Harry M. Richards, resident inspector, on the progress being made on the town's new filtration plant.

Election Stated
Plans for the annual dinner meeting were made by the Social Welfare Club in St. James parish house.

The meeting and election of officers will be held Thursday, June 6, at the All Ghan Shrine Club, Cumberland.

Members of the nominating committee who presented a slate of officers at the recent meeting were Mrs. Alva Pleasant, Mrs. Melva Sively and Mrs. Barbara Cowell.

Haven O. Sions, branch manager of the Reserve Life Insurance Company office, Keyser, spoke on "Insurance Wise." Mrs. Marie Jezere was received as a new member.

Fort Ashby
FORT ASHBY — The Farm Women's Club will meet this evening in the recreation rooms of the Methodist Church. There will be a demonstration on "How To Perform the Average Home Task the Easiest Way."

Mrs. Margaret Daugherty and son, Lon, and Mrs. Rose Peters, of Gary, Ind., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burton L. Matthews.

Mrs. L. L. Combs and Mrs. Rachel Self are patients in Memorial Hospital.

W. Va. Schools For Deaf, Blind Plan Graduation

ROMNEY — Graduation exercises at the West Virginia Schools For the Deaf and Blind will be held in the physical education building Tuesday at 10:30 a. m.

A class of 24 will be graduated from the School For the Deaf. Harold Glendon Wiley, of Romney is valedictorian of the class and Patsy Ann McCune, of Meadow Bridge, salutatorian. The School For the Blind has no graduating class this year.

Dr. Powrie V. Doctor, professor of history and political science at Gallaudet College, will deliver the Graduation address. Rev. Ralph T. McCord, pastor of Romney Methodist Church, will offer the invocation and pronounce the benediction. Diplomas will be presented to the graduates by H. K. Baer, secretary of the West Virginia Board of Education.

The sermon for the School For the Deaf will be given Sunday at 9:30 a. m. in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church by Rev. Arch Hewitt, rector. The senior chorus of the School For the Blind will participate in the service.

Class Day exercises, including the presenting of certificates and awards, will be held in the primary School For the Deaf auditorium Monday at 1:30 p. m.

Civil Suit Ends
In a suit brought by Harold Noble Lewis, administrator of the estate of the late Cora Alice Lewis, his mother, against John Mosserjak of Baltimore and Homer A. McDonald of Winchester, a jury in Hampshire County Court awarded $5,000 to both the plaintiff and the defendants.

On April 2, 1956 a car operated by Mosserjak struck the car operated by Harold N. Lewis, instantly killing Cora Alice Lewis, mother of the driver.

The accident occurred near Shanks on U.S. Route 50, approximately six miles east of Romney near a roadside park.

McDonald was alleged to have pulled from the roadside park into the path of the Mosserjak car, causing it to swerve and strike the Lewis vehicle. The attorneys for both sides asked for a new trial and were given 15 days to file.

J. G. Muniz and James Ansel, Moorefield attorneys, represented Lewis. Ralph W. Haines and J. S. Zimmerman, both of Romney, represented McDonald and Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield and Clarence Martin, Martinsburg, represented Mosserjak.

Fun Carnival Set Tomorrow

OAKLAND — Oakland Elementary School's annual "million dollar" fun carnival will be held on the school grounds tomorrow evening. It was announced by the general committee which includes Charles L. Briner, Mrs. Jack Getty and Darrell Malone.

Briner said there would be 15 booths and that some 40 volunteers will be on hand to take charge. He said the committee also was endeavoring to obtain some ponies for that evening.

Play money will be used entirely that evening with 100 "bucks" costing five cents. Tellers will be Frank McDaniel, Glenroot Dilley, Rex Teagarden, Nordeck Shaffer from the two Oakland banks.

In case of inclement weather the carnival will be held Saturday. The carnival is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

Generally, 33 years are considered a generation, thus allowing three generations to a century.

Butler Gets Year In Jail For Slaying

Piedmont Man Also Draws $500 Fine; No Statement Made

Howard S. Butler, 54-year-old Piedmont paperworker held since last December 30 in the fatal shooting of a woman acquaintance, was sentenced today in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser to one year in jail, plus a fine of $500 and costs for involuntary manslaughter.

Judge Ernest A. See informed the defendant that his sentence began May 9, the day an all-male jury deliberated almost two hours before returning a verdict. The maximum penalty is one year in jail or $1,000 fine, or both.

See pointed out that if the fine and costs are not paid at the end of Butler's confinement period he will remain in jail for an indefinite length of time.

Leniency Requested

After a half-hour statement to the defendant, jurors and spectators in the well-filled court room, See asked Butler if he had anything to say prior to sentencing. No reply was given.

However, Defense Attorney Joseph A. Blunden appealed for leniency, pointing out the physical injuries suffered by Butler in the slaying of Mrs. Velma Marie (Greenhorn) Sharon in his apartment, and the time he has already spent in jail. The prisoner was also represented by Edward J. Ryan of Frostburg and Cumberland.

Butler was wounded about the face and had to undergo surgery in Baltimore.

Judge See this morning criticized Butler's son and daughter for ignoring circumstances concerning their father and his paramour.

Friends 18 Years

Butler stated he and Mrs. Sharon "got along all right" and they "went together for about 18 years." He denied striking her at one time, but See pointed out that she showed up for work at the G. C. Murphy Company with a black eye one morning.

Concerning a fur coat Butler had given Mrs. Sharon for Christmas, Judge See asked if it was possibly a "peace offering."

The judge also remarked that a seasoned hunter such as Butler would have removed shells from his gun after returning from a hunting trip. The defense had contended that Butler's deer rifle went off accidentally.

Tenacious Verdict Just

See indicated the jury returned a just verdict in view of the evidence presented. Prosecuting Attorney Donald Holt, asking for a first or second degree murder verdict, early in the trial stated there were no actual witnesses to the shooting.

According to the defense, Butler was cleaning the rifle in the kitchen when it accidentally discharged. Mrs. Sharon, lying on a bed in another room, jumped up and ran to the kitchen just as the rifle went off again, fatally wounding her.

Butler had testified that he then turned the gun on himself, after realizing that Mrs. Sharon was mortally wounded. The blast hit him in the jaw.

After sentence was pronounced today, Butler was returned to Mineral County Jail to serve the year term.

Rites Tomorrow For Fire Victim

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Funeral services for Grover C. Zirk, Jr., 33, who was burned to death early Tuesday morning in his parked car near here on Route 220, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EST) in the Moorefield Presbyterian Church with the Rev. R. L. Morgan, assisted by the Rev. Charles Godwin, pastor of Duffey Memorial Methodist Church, officiating. Graveside services will be conducted at Olivet Cemetery by John M. Golliday, pastor, American Legion.

Zirk is believed to have been on his way to an all-night restaurant at Burlington when he became drowsy and pulled his car off the road to take a nap, and that the car caught fire from a cigarette after he fell asleep.

Zirk was born here November 2, 1923, a son of Grover C. and Mary (Southern) Zirk, now of Baltimore. He is survived by his parents, his widow, the former Twila Bear; two children, Brenda Kay and Gregory Martin, at home; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. George Sauterly, Moorefield; three brothers, Woodrow and Ralph Zirk, Baltimore, and Wilson Zirk, Detroit; six sisters, Mrs. Forrest Gibbs, Houston, Texas; Mrs. Wendell Lamm, Rand; Mrs. John Hanzel, Hyattsville, Md.; Mrs. James Trent, Baltimore; Mrs. Jack Stanfield, Germany; and Mrs. Lloyd Basham, Elwood, Ill.

Business To Operate Until End Of June

Joe Itoni, who has sold his Modern Shoe Repair plant to the Capuchin Monks of Cumberland, will continue operating the business until the end of June to take care of a backlog of work.

It had previously been reported he would close his business on June 8.

TRADITIONAL CEREMONY—Fort Hill High School this morning was the scene of the annual transfer of the badge of office of the senior class presidency. Thomas Snyder, this year's class president, is placing the logo on the newly elected president of the class of 1958, Darrell Oster. The ceremony took place during the senior farewell assembly.

Petitions Due To Be Offered Before June 1

Petitions calling for a referendum on the city proposal to increase its tax limitation will be submitted to the Mayor and Council by the end of next week.

Albert A. Doub, local attorney and spokesman for the petitioning group, said today "We are probably over" the required 2,348 qualified voters' names needed on the petitions.

Under the city's home rule law, petitions containing 20 per cent of qualified voters' names for a referendum must be submitted within 40 days from the passage of the tax limitation measure by council. That would make the date June 1 and Doub said today they would be handed to the city by the "end of May."

As proposed by the city, the tax limitation would be raised from $1.25 to $1.50. The city has emphasized this is not a tax increase but merely provides it with a 25-cent "cushion" to be used in an emergency should the next year's budget requests exceed expected revenues. At the present time, the city is within five mills of its limitation.

Verification of the petition signatures by the city should be speeded up by the fact that machinery is already set up as a result of recent petitions calling for a vote on a proposed sale of $500,000 in Urban Development Bonds.

The city has asked a declaratory judgment in Allegany County Circuit Court on a number of the signatures on these petitions. Meanwhile, the original bond sale (today) passed into history and council next week will act on an amendment to allow it to set another safe date hanging upon the decision of the court.

Mrs. Mary Weber Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Mary (Wiley) Weber, 74, of 407 Washington Street, died this morning in Memorial Hospital at which she had been admitted on Tuesday.

A native of this city, she was the widow of Harry E. Weber, for many years a prominent business leader of the area. Mr. Weber was president of the Times and Allegany Publishing Company, president of the Georges Creek Coal Company, a director of the Cumberland Milling Company, director of the S. T. Little Company, vice president of the United States Rice Company, and president of the Third National Bank until the merger leading to the present Liberty Trust Company.

Mrs. Weber was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and the Cumberland County Club.

Survivors include three sons, William Weber, Pittsburgh; John Weber, Hyattsville, and James E. Weber, Garden City, Long Island; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Bootman, Steubenville, Ohio; three sisters, Miss Sarah V. Wiley and Mrs. Ernest B. Riley, both of Baltimore, and Mrs. John L. Wellington, this city; 11 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Stein Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Stein Funeral Home.

Interment will be in the Stein family plot in the Mount Vernon Cemetery.

Civic Orchestra Reaches New Heights In Concert

One of Cumberland's outstanding cultural assets is its Civic Orchestra which reached new stature in its final concert of the season Tuesday night at Allegany High School auditorium. Expanded to 50 players under Conductor

Wilton Sykes, the group will continue weekly rehearsals through the summer and plans an early opening of the concert season next fall.

For the 1956-57 season finale, Conductor Sykes chose a varied program nicely balanced between classical and popular music. While this reviewer would like more of the symphony type compositions, it is granted that a large number of the orchestra's followers prefer such numbers as "Tea For Two" and "None But the Lonely Heart." The latter, incidentally, is a Tchaikovsky composition and thus combines classical and popular appeal. It was beautifully and sensitively performed by the Cumberland instrumentalists.

There is evident in Conductor Sykes' work more incisiveness, a firmer control of the sections, and more surety in overall direction. It is not hard to see that members and conductor work in harmony and with an enthusiasm that should carry this orchestra to the top.

Bond Refused By Henderson For Chambers

Attorneys Advised Of Petition Rights On Murder Charge

Chief Judge George Henderson today refused a writ of habeas corpus to James Mettrey Chambers who filed the petition in an attempt to obtain his release from the county jail where he has been held since May 6 on a charge of murdering his wife.

Chambers' attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, argued that the charge against Chambers could develop into one of manslaughter. State Attorney Paul M. Fletcher told the court that the case against Chambers was strong enough to warrant the murder charge.

Judge Henderson told Chambers' attorneys that they could petition the court for immediate trial and also offered to recall the grand jury if they so desired.

"I'm not going to allow Chambers to be released on bond," Judge Henderson declared.

Chambers told the court that he put the gun on safety and pointed it at his wife in an attempt "to scare her." He said the gun discharged accidentally. The wife, Mrs. Virginia F. Chambers, 37, died at their home May 2 after being struck in the chest with a pumpkin ball from a shotgun.

The shooting followed an argument between Chambers and his wife, according to police. Chambers and his brother-in-law, Clarence Broadstock, who was in town on a visit, had visited a number of taverns during the day and were in a South End place when Mrs. Chambers came in and asked them to come home for supper. She stayed at the tavern about half an hour and the shooting took place on her arrival home. Broadstock was in another room at the time the shooting took place in the kitchen, police said.

Chambers was arrested May 6 and is being held in the county jail.

Rev. Carlton M. Harris New Centre Street Church Pastor

The new pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church is Rev. Carlton M. Harris, who comes here after having served as pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Salisbury, Md., since 1949.

He succeeds Rev. Dr. Howard M. Amoss, who will deliver his final sermons at the services Sunday at Centre Street Church before leaving to assume the pastorate of Bethesda Methodist Church at Salisbury.

Rev. Dr. Amoss, who has served as pastor of Centre Street Church for five years, succeeds Rev. Dr. J. Leas Green at the Salisbury church. Rev. Dr. Green has been named superintendent of the Eastern District of the Peninsula Methodist Conference.

Active With Youth

Active in ministerial, youth and athletic programs, Rev. Mr. Harris was responsible for quadrupled attendance at Sunday morning service at Trinity Church. The attendance grew so large that the church instituted 9 and 11 a. m. services. During his ministry, the church received 535 new members.

His final sermon to his Trinity congregation was delivered on May 12 and he is expected here Monday.

A native of Virginia, he was born in the Winchester area, a son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Carlton B. Harris. He was educated at Randolph-Macon College and received his ministerial training at Union Theological Seminary.

His first pastorate was at Brentwood in Prince Georges County, and he also served churches at Easton and Wilmington before being appointed pastor of Trinity Church in 1949.

Father of Three

Rev. Mr. Harris was founder and first president of the Wicomico County Ministerial Association, an integrated ministerial group, and served as president of the Salisbury Ministerial Association during 1955-56.

Active in Wicomico County sports projects, particularly baseball and basketball, Rev. Mr. Harris inaugurated a Church Night program to honor the young athletes of Trinity Church. He also initiated a program of Methodist youth outings to Wicomico County lakes, so that the young people could hold their worship programs and meetings outdoors.

Review Board Files Awards In Land Cases

Property Needed For Road Work On McMillen Highway

The first awards of the Board of Property Review, named some months ago to hear cases involving land acquisitions by the State Roads Commission, were filed in Circuit Court today.

Hearings in a number of cases have been held in recent weeks and the findings of the board in five cases were listed today.

The board awarded Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Fike a total of $1,911.50 for property used by the state in the improvement of U. S. Route 220 in the Hawnings area. The money will be distributed to the Fikes and Robert W. Young and Mrs. Edith M. Young, mortgagees.

William S. Caldwell and Mrs. Goldie C. Caldwell were awarded $851.10 for their property near Rawlings. Crates R. Carr and Mrs. Mary C. Carr were awarded $228 for their property in the same area. James Harbaugh was awarded $735.25 for property near Rawlings with the money being distributed to Harbaugh and the National Bank of Keyser.

Herschel E. Jenkins and Mrs. Nellie G. Jenkins were awarded $1,990.50 for their property near Rawlings. The money is being distributed to the Jenkins and the Home Building and Loan Association, Inc.

The board is comprised of William S. Jenkins, an attorney; Charles L. Kopp, retired superintendent of Allegany County schools and William M. George, a civil engineer with the George Construction Company. They were appointed by the judges of Circuit Court under the program to speed up acquisition of lands needed for the 12-year state highway program.

Three Seek Top Post Position

Three members of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion of Ridgeley, will be seeking the office of commander when the annual election is held June 4.

William Knieriem, Ellsworth Thompson and K. Albert Wolfe were nominated for the post at a meeting Tuesday night.

The office of vice commander also is being contested. William McCullough, Karl G. Brunt and Raymond Hershberger were nominated.

Other nominees are Charles Jack, adjutant; William Thompson, chaplain; Elmer Higgs, historian; Roland Showers Sr., service officer; William Andrews, child welfare; Archie Lough, finance officer; Robert Dowling, sergeant-at-arms; Thomas Cowan, Americanism officer, and Leroy Fleming, three-year trustee.

Archie Lough, commander, said the annual election will be held from noon until 8 p. m. when a meeting will take place.

On June 9, Commander Lough said, the 10th District convention will be held in Romney and a delegation from Ridgeley will attend.

Nursing Law Effective On Monday

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Procedures for licensing practical nurses by examination and training requirements for license applicants became law in West Virginia next Monday under an act of the 1957 Legislature.

While Monday is the official effective date, it will be some weeks before the program is in actual operation.

Gov. Underwood has not yet appointed the seven-member board which will give the examinations and set standards for schools of practical nursing. The Legislature did not give the board any money on which to get started. A $10,000 appropriation effective July 1 must come out of future license fee receipts.

Passage of the act this year left Colorado as the only state without such a law.

The new law's requirements for a practical nurse's license include a ninth-grade education and completion of a course of study in a school for practical nurses accredited by the board.

However, there is a clause protecting the women, and possibly a few men, already engaged in practical nursing in the state.

Until June 30, 1959, anyone with three years of verified experience as a practical nurse in West Virginia will be entitled to a "license by waiver." Such persons subsequently may, by completion of extension courses, qualify to take the examination and obtain a license without the "waiver" designation.

Income Tax Checks Sent To 200,000

BALTIMORE (AP)—State income tax officials have mailed refund checks totaling $2,500,000 to more than 200,000 Maryland taxpayers so far this year. They expect to write at least that many more in the next few weeks.

Benjamin J. Marsh, chief of the income tax division of the State comptroller's office, said the average refund has been about $12.50.

Prior to the April 15 filing deadline, the division estimated it would receive more than 750,000 returns—an all-time record.

To date, Marsh said, about 450,000 have been processed and the early forecast is certain to be reached and possibly surpassed.

He said he fully expects his staff to have processed all the returns by the end of June and also to have mailed most of the required refunds by then.

"We're not refunding solely on the basis of what the taxpayer reported, but only after some checking."

However, he added, the volume of work involved does not permit careful and complete checks of all returns.

The increase in the number of persons filing returns this year and the bigger refunds both stem from the fact that calendar year 1956 was the first full year for the State withholding tax system.

Marsh said it is impossible to tell exactly how many taxpayers filed returns for the first time because of the withholding process.

Maryland's normal increase in the number of taxpayers is 10,000 to 15,000 a year. Other persons filed for the first time this year because of a reduction in personal exemptions.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, personal exemptions were reduced from $1,000 to $800, thereby requiring filing by an unknown number of taxpayers who had not filed in the past.

During the last session of the General Assembly, it was estimated income tax collections would total about $70,404,000. Of that total, $61,279,000 would come from personal income levies and the remaining $9,125,000 from taxes on corporate incomes.

Civic Orchestra

to greater heights in the immediate future.

For the review of this season's final performance the accent here should be not so much on the well-played program as on the general excellence of the orchestra; the devoted service given voluntarily by busy people who constitute its membership; and the need for wider and more effective public support. The community is fortunate in having available such a highly qualified conductor as Wilton Sykes. Next season is the critical time during which civic boosters will be most needed, and there should be no hesitancy on the part of organizations, individuals and the city in assuring support for one of our finest assets.

Principal numbers were "Semiramide," the "L'Arlesienne Suite," "Pomp and Circumstance" and "The Moldau."

Charles I. Sager, a baritone of big-time concert qualifications, sang the "Largo Al Factotum" from "Barber of Seville" like the real artist that he is. The orchestra accompanied, albeit a bit too loudly, but it is good to have such union of local talent.

Mary Drumm Bollino was piano accompanist for the other songs, and her artistry always adds to any occasion.

to greater heights in the immediate future.

For the review of this season's final performance the accent here should be not so much on the well-played program as on the general excellence of the orchestra; the devoted service given voluntarily by busy people who constitute its membership; and the need for wider and more effective public support. The community is fortunate in having available such a highly qualified conductor as Wilton Sykes. Next season is the critical time during which civic boosters will be most needed, and there should be no hesitancy on the part of organizations, individuals and the city in assuring support for one of our finest assets.

Principal numbers were "Semiramide," the "L'Arlesienne Suite," "Pomp and Circumstance" and "The Moldau."

Charles I. Sager, a baritone of big-time concert qualifications, sang the "Largo Al Factotum" from "Barber of Seville" like the real artist that he is. The orchestra accompanied, albeit a bit too loudly, but it is good to have such union of local talent.

Mary Drumm Bollino was piano accompanist for the other songs, and her artistry always adds to any occasion.

Ham, Turkey, Chicken On 'Special' Foods List

By The Associated Press

Ham will vie with beef for the shopper's attention in many supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this weekend.

Rising beef prices have paved the way for other meats to take over the featured spot on the weekly "special" lists. This week it's ham's turn in many places. Turkey and chickens are getting a play in some places, and one Eastern chain is featuring live lobsters at 39 cents a pound. It's a repeat of a successful sale of lobsters at the same price last week.

Seen Going Higher

Most of the beef offered as a special is one or another of the various chuck cuts. These less expensive cuts include roasts, pot roasts and steaks — all from the chuck portions.

Agriculture Department experts expect the total supply of beef in the second half of the year to be smaller than last year, which ordinarily means somewhat higher prices.

Housewives can take cheer, however, from reports that vegetable canners' warehouses last month had stocks up 63 per cent over a year earlier. This is expected to mean bargains in canned vegetables in the next month or so.

Among the fresh vegetables, outstanding buys can be had this week among new cabbage from Virginia and North and South Carolina, Boston and romaine varieties of lettuce, radishes, spinach and Maine potatoes from last fall's big crop.

Beans from Southern fields are reported to be a good buy, although showing a wide range of quality and condition. Produce men attribute this to a poor growing season, with too much rain when it wasn't wanted and not enough when it was.

It's "Pickle Week"

Bunched beets, bunched carrots, Western (Iceberg) lettuce, the first celery from New Jersey fields, new potatoes from the South and the gradually lessening supplies of Idaho potatoes also are rated as good buys.

So are cucumbers, which brings to mind the fact that this week has been designated National Pickle Week.

Rhubarb, at the height of its season, is rated as an outstanding fruit buy. In the good buy category are Valencia and navel oranges, grapefruit and increasing supplies of watermelon.

Know your vinegars! There are many types available and each has a distinctive flavor. Vinegars are made chiefly from cider, wine, malt, grain or spirit. A cherry sauce tastes delicious with cold smoked tongue.

New Thrill From Old Recipe

OLD FASHIONED CHEESE SPREAD—Mother had a hundred and one uses for it.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Enormous pleasure comes when you try a dish enjoyed in your childhood and find it measures up to your memories of it.

This was our own recent and delightful experience when we reconstructed a cheese spread, dreamed up by mother many years ago, and it was just as delicious as we remembered it.

In our home, when I was a little girl, this spread was used mainly as a filling for sandwiches for large and small "teas." By the time I was a teenager I was serving it at high-school and college parties when there were lots of healthy appetites to satisfy. We usually combined it with fresh white bread and bought extra-long loaves, cutting them into thin horizontal slices.

In this way the cheese mixture, left at room temperature long enough to soften, could be spread quickly on the slices and dozens of sandwiches made in a short time. One of our sisters usually helped and we both prided ourselves on our professional approach!

A persuasive feature of this spread is its keeping qualities. We've had it on hand in a covered jar in the refrigerator for a couple of weeks and found it endlessly useful.

The original spread was always made with homemade boiled salad dressing; but if you haven't any of this old-fashioned ingredient at hand, use mayonnaise as suggested in the recipe.

My Mother's Cheese Spread

Ingredients: 1 pound natural cheddar cheese, 1 jar (4 ounces) pimientos (drained), 1/2 cup sliced pitted green olives, 1/2 cup broken walnut meats, 1/2 cup mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing to taste.

Method: Put cheese, pimientos, olives and walnuts through food chopper using fine blade. Mix in mayonnaise or salad dressing. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. (Makes 3 1/2 to 4 cups.) Use as a sandwich filling alone or with sliced ham, turkey or tomatoes.

Note: This spread may be made with a soft-type cheddar would be filled with the cheese mixture. The stuffed pears would be served with crisp greens and salad dressing as a salad.

When we gave this cheese spread to a friend recently, she told us she used it in the following ways.

Tomato Salad—Cut a thin slice from the bottom of each tomato. If necessary, to have them stand straight, cut out the stem ends. Slice tomatoes into wedges but not all the way through. Spoon a mound of the cheese spread into the center of each tomato and serve with salad greens and salad dressing.

Frankfurter Topping—Split frankfurters lengthwise but not all the way through; grill. Just (Continued on Page 17)

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's note: Professionally employed wife and mother is concerned over children's behavior.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I would like to know how this situation sounds to an outsider.

I hold a professional job which brings in half the family income, and manage my home with the help of a maid. We have two fine children—healthy, intelligent, well adjusted, morally sound, trustworthy, loving, with lots of interests.

The problem is, I find myself pushing the children almost constantly to get them to do the things we all agree must be done. The struggle begins with my efforts to get them out of bed in the morning, and continues until I get them to bed at night.

My teen-age daughter, a delightful child, isn't doing too well at school, to my great sorrow. I feel the school work isn't sufficiently motivated, but I have no control over that. I've taken to supervising her home work, and find she goes through the motions, but doesn't really learn, because she isn't really trying. She is just doing a disagreeable task under pressure; and, after an evening of applying pressure, I am too exhausted, emotionally, to sleep.

Bad For Them, Worse For Her

The younger child is less of a problem; but this one, too, doesn't work to capacity. And school getting them to take responsibility for their pets, hang up their clothes, keep a semblance of order in the bathroom and living room, and so on.

It can't be good for the children to be prodded constantly, even if the prodding is effective. And the strain is beginning to tell on me. My husband and I are hard workers; we have to be and we like to be, but I am exhausted from carrying too heavy a load.

What do you suggest? Both children have high IQ's.

G. S.

Emotional Fight Is Being Waged

DEAR G. S.: The fact that you go to bed too exhausted, emotionally, to sleep, after an evening of putting pressure on Carla, let's call her, shows that you are fighting each other.

The problem I see, basically, is that you have always (unconsciously) rejected the children emotionally—as a department of responsibility that, while "conscientiously" embraced, represents a direct conflict with your other "chosen" medium of self-expression; namely, professional work.

Thus, in first-hand dealings with the children, you've always "rushed" essential things, unconsciously impatient to get them done and over with—well done, of course; but definitely behind you, morning, noon or night. In short, the mother-child relationship hasn't been enjoyed for its own sake—in the sense of finding satisfaction in just being together, doing things together, getting to know each other profoundly, etc.

More Puppets Than Persons

And because you are a high-pressure domestic executive, operating at two-job speed, you've never become geared psychologically to keeping the child's pace of growth, as a wholehearted mother does.

A child's growth is of necessity slow, uncertain and faltering while his personality is getting organized; and to be persistently "rushed" tends to leave him disorganized, vaguely defensive against all pressures, and without a sense of direction or purpose or self-confident drive in life.

As of now, the children are more puppets than persons. It seems—either doing as they're told, or not doing it; but, at any rate, not "relating" to any group situation "at home or in school" in terms of acting eagerly, or taking the initiative, to keep up their end of things. And they are now of an age when this apathy shows, as significantly unshared to their years. Earlier it might have been construed as nice malfeasance.

Perhaps this is an overly simplified interpretation of the difficulty—rather slanted in behalf of the children's need of better understanding, and more creative handling. But, in any case, you've got to have first-hand advisory help, in getting on the right track, for the sake of all, before you crack up. And in the city through which you write, expert psychological help is available.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of The Evening Times.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—You are strong now for periods when you are lackadaisical, lacking in ambition. Double your efforts, finish incomplete tasks, start new projects, get things in line generally. Profits are indicated.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—Abundant reasons here for really hard endeavor. In the family, trade, social life, work, research, skilled workmanship, writing, and the many important things in life generally, profits are indicated.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—Influences similar to those of Cancer, and fine aspects for home-making, new ventures, augmenting present holdings and completing tasks already started. You can now further your own and your family's interests; also, your social life, and get big results. Let nothing vex you; keep looking ahead and working for bigger gains.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—You are now further your own and your family's interests; also, your social life, and get big results. Let nothing vex you; keep looking ahead and working for bigger gains.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—No "is or buts" about this heartening day. It calls for action and profit. Action and profit, however, can be secured through an intelligent "little" that takes effort.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Don't be satisfied with mediocre attainment this fine planetary day. If you think and act big, you'll get at least better than "good" results. You are brave, capable; put your special talents to use.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn)—Whatever your line of endeavor, and this includes home-making, business, and all other things, you are inspired to exhibit your finest qualities and most valuable talents. You are especially favored now.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 21 (Aquarius)—Read, heed Sagittarius; the new, the unusual, the daring, the enterprise encouraged and stimulated now. Don't be idle when all the influences urge you to do and achieve.

FEBRUARY 22 to MARCH 21 (Pisces)—New ideas, original methods encouraged now. Your special interests and activities you like should prosper satisfactorily. Don't rely, go forward.

YOU BORN TODAY are strong, able, a delightful personality, interesting, helpful, generous—a vital person. At times you are misunderstood, under-estimated because you often talk too much to cover up a really sensitive nature. Don't fear the censorship of others; they can encourage and enjoy your accomplishments. Confide in family and trusted friends, but be wary of those who flatter you to further their own desires. Cultivate your many talents; they can be of great value later in life. Birthdate: Victoria, Queen of Eng.

Bids Awarded For Highways

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Twenty-nine state highway projects have been awarded and six federal projects recommended for approval to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, according to Patrick C. Grane, road commissioner.

The 35 projects, totaling $2,000,000, make up one of the largest lettings ever held by the commission.

The projects include:

- Grant — U. S. 50, asphalt surfacing 3 1/2 miles between Mount Stott and Maryland line, Keeley Construction Co. of Clarksburg, $51,713; U. S. 220, treating surface nine miles between Petersburg and Pendleton County line, Harlow Construction Co., $95,673.
- Jefferson — W. Va. 9, asphalt surfacing 3 1/2 miles between Bailey Bridge and Virginia line, Potomac Construction Co., Martinsburg, $31,491; W. Va. 9, treating surface

Marlinton Man Named To Workmen's Board

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Underwood announced the appointment today of a new workmen's compensation commissioner, George S. Sharp of Marlinton, to replace Cletus O. Hanley effective June 1.

Sharp, 37, was mayor of Marlinton from 1950 to 1952 and last year completed a four year term as Pocahontas County prosecuting attorney.

Boost Appetites, Raise Money

By ORCILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Do you belong to a club, church or professional group that wants to raise money for a pet project? Then rely on good food to get people together and help along your goal.

To find out how a group succeeds in giving a fund-raising supper, we attended a lecture-buffet session undertaken recently by the Home Economics Women in Business members in New York City. We asked about planning and nabbed a large quantity of recipe in case you want to duplicate this supper in your own community.

Members and guests at the HEWB supper helped themselves first at a "soup bar" and to Brazil nut chips. Then they passed along a buffet table set with main-dish casseroles, relishes, rolls, fruit, cheese and crackers, fruit, cake and cookies. Coffee was served on request.

The main-dish casseroles were each made to yield either 20 or 40 portions and were prepared by members in the test kitchen in which they work. The recipe that follows may be easily duplicated using the facilities of a church, club or restaurant kitchen. If you do decide to use this recipe, we suggest you serve tomato juice instead of soup as your first course, because this main dish calls for condensed canned soup as one of its ingredients.

The casserole accompaniments—pickles, olives, cottage cheese relish, celery, raw carrot strips and rolls—may be donated or bought. So may the fruit, cheese, cake and cookies that made up the dessert course. This menu, as you can see, calls for minimum food preparation. What you charge for your supper tickets will depend in part on what you have to buy and what you can get for free.

When you plan your supper, appoint a food committee to be responsible for organizing the menu and assigning the work in connection with its preparation. You will also need a serving committee who will set up the buffet table and replenish and oversee it and a clean-up committee.

The HEWB supper project was attended by 350 members and cleared enough money to award $500 in scholarships to five home economists for a graduate study course at New York University. Undoubtedly the large attendance was not only due to the fact that the fund-raising goal was a worthy one, but also because a suitable program was arranged. At this particular supper, a panel discussion of food and fashion photography was held. The interests of your own group will naturally differ, but try to offer an alluring program that has both educational and entertainment value.

GREEN NOODLE AND TURKEY CASSEROLE

Ingredients: 10 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 5 soup cans milk, 2 pounds sharp processed cheddar cheese (shredded), 1 can (4 ounces) pimiento (drained and chopped), 2 pounds green noodles (cooked), 2 quarts cubed or diced cooked turkey, 2 cups toasted slivered blanched almonds.

Method: Mix together the soup, milk and cheese in a saucepan, cook over very low heat, stirring often, until cheese melts. Stir in pimiento. Pour a little of the sauce in the bottom of a large baking pan. Spread one-half of the cooked noodles in the pan. Cover with the turkey and about one-half of the sauce. Make a second layer in the same way. Sprinkle almonds evenly over top. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven for about 1 hour. Makes about 45 servings.

Note: A round pan, 18 inches in diameter and about 3 inches deep, was used in preparing this casserole.

New Thrill

(Continued from Page 15) before they are finished cooking spread a little of the cheese mixture over their cut surfaces and put back under the broiler to melt the cheese. Use foil under the franks because some of the cheese mixture will probably run down. Place the franks on toasted buttered rolls, spooning up any of the good gooey cheese that has run down.

Hamburger Bonus—Put a dollop of the cheese mixture on a grilled hamburger and put back under the broiler just until the cheese melts.

Epicurean first course: cold poached eggs served atop jellied chicken broth seasoned with tarragon. Garnish the eggs with capers.

Dedication Stated By Purple Heart

Herbert McFarland, city, will represent Mountain Chapter 168, Military Order of Purple Heart, at a dedication of the organization's national home in Daytona Beach, Fla.

McFarland, national executive committee member, past department commander and past commander of the local chapter, and a group of members left for Florida last night and expect to return home next week.

Built in 1941 by a Florida corporation, the hotel, located along the Halifax River, will be a home for combat wounded veterans.

The Purple Heart took over the hotel the first of this year. Golf, swimming, fishing, tennis and other sports facilities are available.

McFarland said he also plans to attend the national convention in August at Milwaukee, Wis., when it will be decided whether to move national headquarters from Washington to Daytona Beach.

Greenland, with an area of 840,000 square miles, is the largest island in the world.

Mrs. King Heads PTA

Mrs. Wilbur King has been elected president of the John Humbird School PTA.

Election of officers and delegates featured a recent meeting at which William Taylor presided and Miss Sara Wright, principal, officiated at the installation.

Other officers are: Mrs. Vernon Slufft, vice president; Mrs. Daniel Boone, recording secretary; Mrs. Leo Rhodes, corresponding secretary and David Smith, treasurer. Mrs. King and Mrs. George Barnsticker were named delegates to Summer Conference.

A past president's pin was presented to Taylor. The association also voted to honor Holly Scott, custodian of the school for nine years, upon his retirement at the close of the school year. At present he is a patient in the hospital with a broken pelvis.

The $5 attendance award was won by Miss Frances Crist's sixth grade. It will be used for a conservation trip arranged by William Bodkin, forester; William Johnson, district soil conservation agent; and John Harlan, forest worker, to the Irons Mountain and Fintstone area, May 27, as part of the class' social studies, which is devoted to the United States, with emphasis on the Eastern section.

For the program a talk and moving picture on "Safety" was given by Stephen Wanless, of the B&O Railroad police force, Miss Roberting Boyle, third grade teacher sang, "True Love" accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Wofford, first grade teacher. An informal social hour followed with refreshments served by the members of Mrs. Wofford's first grade; Mrs. William Snyder's first grade and Miss Gladys Judy's second grade.

25 Cent Dividend Set By Celanese Directors

A 25-cent dividend on common stock, payable June 26 to holders of record June 3, has been declared by the directors of the Celanese Corporation of America. The board also voted regular quarterly dividends of $1.12 1/2 on series A, preferred stock, and $1.75 on the seven per cent second preferred stock. Both dividends are payable July 1, to holders of record June 3, 1957.

Fruit Soup For Summer

Not so long ago fruit soups were looked upon as foreign novelties. An invention of the Scandinavians, fruit soups have been adopted by Americans who appreciate their possibilities for delightful summer meals.

Served cold, what could be a more tempting start for a dinner in hot weather? Fruit soup is a satisfying luncheon dish, too.

The soup, for which we give the recipe below, is unusual because it is made with carbonated grape soda. This gives it an extra zip. The recipe can be varied by using different combinations of fruits in season, and you can use true fruit black cherry, orange or other fruit-flavored carbonated

Easy Canape

For a last-minute company canape, top crackers or small slices of rye bread with sharp cheddar cheese and a strip of bacon. Slide under broiler for a few minutes.

Don't crush those sandwiches you are planning to store in your freezer; pack them into a box. And serve them before two weeks go by.

French toast looks pretty topped with a spoonful of red jelly.

Hot Rolls Add Breakfast Zest

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When Sunday morning rolls around, serve a hot bread breakfast treat to your family.

You don't have to get up real early to prepare these rolls if you sift and measure the dry ingredients the night before. Cut in the shortening then, too, to save time next day. While the oven preheats on Sunday morning, stir in the milk and orange juice and roll out.

CORNMEAL gives these sweet orange rolls a crunch texture.

This hot bread has a filling and you can get that ready ahead, too. Grate the orange rind called for and mix it with the brown sugar and chopped nuts; cover and store in the refrigerator. While you are rolling out the dough, the butter needed for the filling can be melted. When the rolls are in the oven you can mix up the frosting.

Let these rolls rest for about 5 minutes when you take them out of the oven so the filling ingredients have time to set, but do serve the rolls while they are still pretty warm. If there are any rolls leftover, try splitting and toasting them; we like them

Boys Prove Better At Washing Dishes

GREENVILLE, Mich. — (U.P.) — Boys are much better than girls at washing dishes, the domestic science teacher at Greenville High School says.

Miss Catherine Stall has a class made up entirely of boys—33 of them. They have learned table setting, candy making and the baking of cookies, rolls and biscuits.

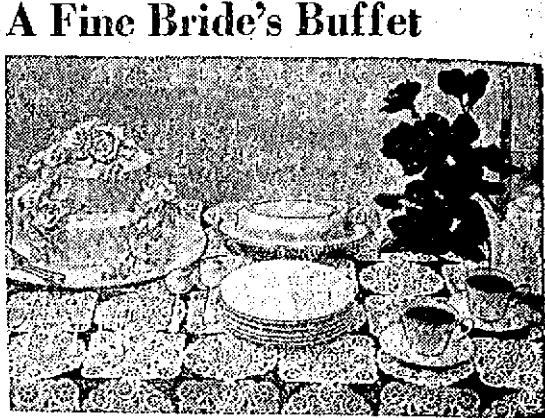

"They really make their own products disappear in a hurry," said Miss Stall.

"The dishes," she said, "usually are really clean when the boys get through with them."

Meaty Rarebit

Bologna strips and chopped ripe olives give extra color and flavor to this new jiffy rarebit. Combine 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup with a quarter pound of cubed American cheese and 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard. Heat (fill mixture is smooth). Add 1/4 pound of bologna cut into thin strips and 1/2 cup chopped black olives. Heat thoroughly and serve over toast points. Serves 4.

Inexpensive Goods Make A Fine Bride's Buffet

WEDDING RECEPTION buffet made of two card tables covered with lace paper mats is attractive but inexpensive.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The bride-to-be is a career girl living in a one-room apartment. Her wedding budget is meager, although her desire for a lovely reception is large.

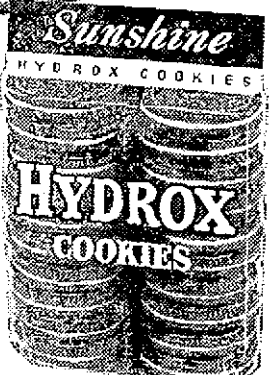

What does she do? She uses two folding card tables as the buffet table, lace paper mats and doilies to make "the bride's lace tablecloth," selects an easy to prepare and serve wedding breakfast menu. She chooses American Beauty roses as the basic color for everything except the "lace paper cloth," which is creamy white.

Sweet Potato Casserole
To make a real Southern sweet potato casserole, try adding a teaspoon of pure vanilla extract along with the usual flavorings. It's a tasty addition to a traditional recipe.

Add curry powder and chili sauce to grated cheddar cheese. Use as a sandwich spread, mixing a little mayonnaise if desired.
Green onions give color contrast to a platter of liverwurst; the two foods taste good together too.

Opening Bid Locates Cards

West opened the queen of diamonds. East won with the ace and shifted to the three of spades. South played the seven. West won with the jack and returned the deuce.

South won this trick with the ace, entered dummy with the six of hearts and trumped a low spade. He returned to dummy with the eight of hearts and ruffed the last spade.
South led his king of diamonds and discarded a club from dummy. He was now ready to attack the club suit. The normal play, if there had been no adverse bidding, would be to play a simple finesse against the jack in the West hand but there had been bidding and South started to reconstruct the East hand.

with four points in diamonds, two points in spades and no points in hearts. In order for East to have 11 high card points he would have to hold both the ace and jack of clubs and South decided that East would not have opened without those 11 points. Hence South led a low club from his hand and went up with dummy's queen.
East won with the ace and was end-played. He shot a club right back but South let it run around to dummy's ten.
At another table the team of East and West did not bid at all and West chose to open the nine of clubs. Dummy played the ten, East the jack and South the king. Not only did South hold his club losses to one trick but he was able to discard his seven of spades on dummy's fourth club and make five.

Tables (39-inch square) side by side. Cover with any material (felt, rayon, cotton, velvet, etc.) in American Beauty (or any other color) 2½ yards by 1 yard.
For "lace cloth" use 2 packages (16-inch square) lace paper doilies and 2 packages round (6-inch diameter) doilies, a roll of transparent cellophane tape. (Total cost for these 3 items about 75 cents.)
Arrange doilies in rows, alternating squares and rounds. Tape together on reverse side, keeping smooth and even. Cover table, leaving long wide border extending to floor.
Chicken, Ham and Mushroom Supreme (Serves 8)
Four cups cooked white meat chicken, cut in small neat pieces, 2 cups tenderized ham, cut in small neat pieces, ½ cup butter, two 7-ounce cans whole mushrooms, 1 cup strained chicken stock, 1 quart very rich sauce. Melt butter in large skillet, add ham, turn heat low, cook until fat sizzles and is golden brown; stir several times—about 10 minutes cooking time. Add mushrooms, and liquid. Mix together, add chicken and chicken stock. Stir together; cover tightly. Simmer 10-15 minutes. Just before serving, add sauce. Serve hot. Very Rich Sauce (Makes 1 Quart)
One-half cup butter (¼ pound), ½ cup flour (minus 2 table-spoons), ¼ teaspoon monosodium

Chili Cheeseburgers

Here's a new slant on hot sandwiches. Open Chili Cheeseburgers. Arrange split hamburger buns on a baking sheet, buttering each half. Cover with slices of American cheese and put in the oven or under the broiler until cheese melts slightly. Serve the buns on individual plates, spooning hot chunked chili con carne over the cheese.

That good old combination, cooked diced carrots and green peas, may be added to an aspic and served with cold meats.

glutamate, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper, 3 cups light cream, 1 cup -seasoned chicken stock, strained; 1 thin slice raw onion.

Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and seasonings and cook slowly over low heat until smooth and bubbly. Heat cream in upper half of double boiler until scalded. Simmer chicken stock with slice of onion 5-10 minutes. Strain into cream, stirring until blended. Add slowly to mixture, stirring constantly.

Cool and cover and store in refrigerator until ready to add to chicken mixture on following day. Heat sauce in upper half of double boiler. Stir occasionally. One-quarter cup heated sherry wine may be added to sauce at last minute, if desired.

Note: At today's prices, the total cost of chicken, ham, mushroom supreme is about $7.69 or less than $1 per serving. The wedding cake, decorated with butter cream frosting petals, to serve 8-12, costs on an average of $15. Large cake to serve 30-40 costs $30. Ice cream mold, heart shape in two flavors, to serve 8, costs $5.

Wedding breakfast: Double casserole—chicken, ham and mushroom supreme, green peas with finely chopped mint, thin bread and butter sandwiches tied with rose and white ribbons, currant jelly, almond stuffed olives, hearts of celery, wedding cake, ice cream, mints in rose color, punch or champagne, coffee.

DAY
W SPORTS
by Jack Dugg

If you were watching the baseball game between the Washington Senators and Kansas City on television Tuesday evening you missed a lot of good programs—Red Skelton, Cheyenne and others. But, if you were, well, you were almost sitting in on another bit of baseball history.

Not that many give up their favorite video shows to waste much time watching either the Senators or Athletics. But for the first five innings it appeared as if there might be a success story being unraveled.

Ronald Duren, a sore-armed hurler, was making his second start for the A's. He was pitching as though he would have to make it something outstanding or he would soon be back to the bushes taking long, tiresome bus rides.

Duren was a picture of concentration. He was mixing his deliveries well against the not-so-potent nor menacing bats of the opposition. They weren't mixing up much of anything; most of their efforts being feeble swishes at Duren's pitches. The Nats were either striking out or chopping easy grounders for just as easy outs.

Fifteen players wearing the spangles of the Washington club went up and down without one getting a close shot at first base. It was a perfect game in perfect working order. Of course, perfect games are few and far between. But here it was a beginning toward one. The seven others in the 80-year history of organized ball had to start the same way.

The Nats' Don Berberet, a heavy-weight catcher with a lightning 1937 batting average, became the culprit with an utter disregard for perfection. With one hefty swing of his bat he grounded Duren with only the quickness a single hit could bring to ruin a perfect game.

It was an opposite-field blast by Berberet that landed just within the confines of the bleachers and out of the grasp of left-fielder Gus Zernial. It was Lou's first homer this season. It ruined what had been the longest stint of any hurler in either league for a repeat of the perfect game so skillfully executed by the Yanks' Don Larsen against the Dodgers in the fifth game of the World Series last October.

The last-balling bespectacled Kansas City rookie was clearly a dejected figure after the poke by Berberet. For here was the shot heard around Duren's own little world. It wasn't witnessed by the great throng of 66,000 that saw Larsen's feat as only a paltry 2,666 were in the Griffith Stadium stands.

It had an effect on Duren's hurling and it didn't take long that cool evening before he was on his way to the showers with only a memory of what has evaded almost all the great pitchers in major-league history.

Before the evening was over, the Nats had scored a 3-0 shut-out and Duren had been lashed for five hits—all coming in an inning and a third. But he'll have many more turns on the mound and the chances are now about 18,000 to one for a no-hit, no-walk, no-error, no-run, nobody on base pitching performance.

Teaches Yanks Respect

The same Mr. Duren, earlier this month, had taught the New York Yankees to respect him as a mound opponent. The Yanks, who are making their predicted runaway in the opposite direction of first place, faced the slants of the rookie right-hander at Kansas City on May 2.

Although he did not win, Duren performed most spectacularly against the Bombers. Tom Sturdivant, with much more hitting power and fielding finesse which the Yanks were then showing, had to pitch a seven-hitter to top the heavy-hespectacled Kaycee hurler, J.J.

Duren allowed six hits and two earned runs for seven innings and fanned eight Yankees with the snapping, sailing fast ball seen by TV viewers Tuesday evening. This same pitch had sent more than a thousand minor leaguers back to the bench on strikeouts.

Duren was just wild enough then to keep the Yankee hitters loose and ready to take for the nearest bit of ground. Bill Skowron had to skip rope on a pitch. Yogi Berra saw one sail a foot over his head. Billy Martin was thrown out at first while flat on his back at home plate after his bat accidentally lapped the ball in a futile effort to get out of the way of a pitch.

Near-sightedness, which forces Duren to wear glasses which seem as thick as bottle-bottoms, is the handicap which checked his career. At 28, he has spent eight years (Continued on Page 21)

Tanner May Solve Braves' Outfield Problem

Homer Beats Roberts, 4-3; Chisox Whip Yanks Again

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK (INS)—Chuck Tanner, an independence Day baby himself, may be the man to free Milwaukee of the leftfield problem that threatens to ruin the Braves' pennant hopes.

Bobby Thomson, Andy Pafko and Wes Covington all were tried in the outfield spot for Milwaukee but not one of them could hit even .200.

Tanner, born July 4, 1929 in New Castle, Pa., got his chance virtually by default and the left-handed swinger is showing signs that he intends to sign a long-term lease on the position.

Blat Whitey Roberts

The solidly-built athlete picked out a Robin Roberts fastball in the 13th inning last night and blasted it over the rightfield fence to give Milwaukee a 4-to-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Aside from the homer, Tanner also contributed two sensational catches to the Milwaukee cause and doubled in the second inning. His batting average is only .220 but he may gain the confidence now to boost that figure to a more respectable size.

Tanner's initial homer of the season presented the win to rookie Juan Pizarro who became the fourth Brave pitcher in the 12th inning. Milwaukee's three earlier runs were driven in by Ed Matthews' seventh homer. Ed Bouchee homered for the Phils.

The triumph enabled the Braves to take over undisputed possession of second place as league-leading Cincinnati crushed Brooklyn, 8 to 1, behind Johnny Klippstein's five-hit pitching. Klippstein employed the "no windup" delivery made famous in the 1956 World Series by Don Larsen as he pitched a perfect game against the Brooks.

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Giants scored once in the ninth to beat the Chicago Cubs, 4 to 3, and the game between Pittsburgh and St. Louis was rained out.

Sox Beat Yanks Again

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox increased their league lead to three games by handing the New York Yankees another beating, 8 to 4.

While Tom Brewer of Boston shut out Cleveland, 11 to 0, the Red Sox tied a league record by hitting four homers in one inning. Al Parrish's tenth-inning single drove in the winning run as Baltimore edged Detroit, 4 to 3, and Gus Zernial slammed two homers to lead Kansas City to an 8-to-6 win over Washington.

Cincinnati kept its league lead at 1-1/2 games by its win over Brooklyn which was interrupted for an hour and a half by rain. Gus Bell's two-run single off Sandy Koufax rubbed out an early Brooklyn run and Ed Bailey homered later for the Redlegs as Klippstein won his first of the year.

A double by Daryl Spencer and Red Schoendienst's single pinned Bob Rush of the Cubs with his fifth loss without a win. Al Worthington of the Giants won in relief of Ruben Gomez who surrendered a homer to Dale Long.

Yanks' Fielding Sloppy

In winning their ninth in a row, the White Sox took advantage of sloppy fielding by the Yanks to push the World Champs four games off the pace. The White Sox, with the aid of errors by Billy Martin and Mickey Mantle, scored five unearned runs in the sixth to help Jim Wilson to his fifth win in six decisions. Nellie Fox homered for the Pale Hose as Johnny Kucks absorbed the defeat.

The four Red Sox homers were by Gene Mauch, Ted Williams, Dick Gernert and Frank Malzone in the sixth inning and all came off Cal McLish. Cleveland starter Bud Dalrymple was the loser while Brewer gained his sixth win on four-hit pitching.

Parrish's pinch single for Baltimore went through the legs of Detroit first baseman Ray Boone and hung reliever Frank Lary with his sixth loss in eight decisions. Lary also permitted the Birds to tie the score in the ninth on Billy Gardner's two-out single. George Zuverink was the winner.

Zernial's homers were his seventh and eighth and along with a two-run blast by Vic Power, enabled Alex Kellner to win his first of the year. Jim Lemon and Roy Sievers hit roundtrippers for the Senators but Ted Abernathy absorbed his fifth loss in six decisions, nevertheless.

Dapper Dan League Will Meet Tonight

Persons interested in managing one of the teams in the Dapper Dan Little League are asked to attend a meeting today, 7:30 p. m., at City Hall. Several pilots are still needed.

The date for tryouts of new players and a discussion on the new alignment of teams will be on tonight's agenda while equipment distribution will also be discussed.

Sentinels Edge Cresaptown In County Meet

Scoring a third in the final event, the 880-yard relay, Fort Hill won the Allegany County Junior High track and field meet yesterday at the stadium by edging Cresaptown, 76 to 74.

The runnersup finished fourth in the relay as both schools entered the final test deadlocked with 70 points.

Allegany wound up third with 62 tallies while Beall of Frostburg was fourth with 41. Beall Elementary fifth with 10 and Penn Avenue Seventh Grade sixth with five points. Beall won the 880 relay with Alco second.

Cresaptown's Jim Hedrick was the only double winner with first in the shot put and high jump of the Junior Unlimited division. Rob Gaffney took the 100-yard dash in the unlimited class and was on the winning 440-yard relay team.

The Sentinels countered points in all 14 tests while Cresaptown missed out on a pair. Summary:

Old Germans, Hermans Score

Old Germans and Hermans notched triumphs in the opening games of the City Softball League yesterday. The Brewers, downed Blue Ribbon Bakery, 6-3, while Hermans blasted Old Exports, 12-3.

Neil Toey lost to Lefty Bob Hook as the Old Gecs pushed across a run in the fifth and two in the sixth to break a 3-3 deadlock. Hook gave up three hits in the first inning and pitched hitless ball thereafter to gain the win.

John Eversole and "Bumps" Barton had four of the winners hits. "Junior" Meese, Sonny Jack and Ronnie Whisner had the three Blue Ribbon bingles.

"Junior" Brelsford had little trouble chalking up his 12-3 win for the Hermans with a four-hit, "Ref" Moreland hit a triple and two singles for the winners and Bob Burns batted a three-bagger. Dave Ritter had a double for the losers.

Hermans: 229 404 0—12 10 0
Old Exports 002 001 0—3 4 0
Brelsford and Burns: "Twigs" Perdue (6) and Shaffer.

Blue Ribbon 210 000 0—3 3 2
Old Gecs 003 012 6—8 8 3
Toey and Whisner: Hook and Eversole.

'Specific Offer' Ready For Dodger Park

NEW YORK (INS)—A special New York City committee has reported that a "specific offer" concerning a new home for the Brooklyn Dodgers will be submitted soon to the club and the city.

The committee, created by Mayor Robert F. Wagner to study the problem of relocating the Dodgers, announced yesterday it was studying only two sites—both in downtown Brooklyn.

A spokesman for the Dodgers said Brooklyn president Walter O'Malley "recently discussed this development" with Mayor Wagner and that "further meetings are planned."

Brewer Finds Strength Also His Weakness

By International News Service

Tom Brewer, ace right-hander of the Boston Red Sox, has found that his big strength also is his weakness.

Brewer, relying mainly on a cracking curve ball, looked like a sure bet to reach his ambition of 20 wins last year.

He had won his 18th game on Labor Day but then the strain of snapping off the curve took its toll and he came down with a bad right elbow and was able to win only one other game.

The 25-year-old hurler from Wadesboro, N. C., is off to a good start again this year. He won his sixth game yesterday, allowing only four hits as the Red Sox thrashed Cleveland, 11 to 0. It was his second shutout of the year.

The six-foot-one, 175-pound hurler was a great pitcher right from the start and only spent one year, 1951, in the minors. That year, he led the North Carolina League with a brilliant 19-and-3 record.

Record Improves

He spent the next two years in the service, returning to make good with the Red Sox in 1954. His record was 10-and-9 that year and he improved it to 11-and-10 in 1955 before jumping to 19-and-9 last season.

He means to keep improving his record and that would mean at least 20 victories this season.

PIRATES 'SQUEEZE' VICTORY OVER LIONS

Squeezing home a run in the bottom of the third, Paw Paw High scored a 3-2 win over West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney in a Potomac Valley Conference clash at Paw Paw yesterday.

After tying the game at 2-2, Junior Householder's squeeze bunt with Largent on third produced the winning tally.

Largent socked two hits for the winners while Moyer had a pair for West Virginia Deaf. The win was the sixth for the Pirates while the Lions dropped their seventh in 12 attempts.

PCC Refuses To Lift Ban On Gridders

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Having demonstrated it is in no mood for leniency, the Pacific Coast Conference plowed into the final day of its annual spring session today with aid to athletes as the one big problem still on the agenda.

Yesterday the conference: Slapped down a request that ineligible football players at schools under probation—UCLA, Southern California and Washington—be half forgiven and be permitted to play in five games next fall.

Fined Idaho and Southern California $1,000 each in disapproval of actions by certain coaches.

There was little optimism among the faculty men and athletic directors that an agreement could be reached here on changes in the air program. Under present rules an athlete can be given free tuition and employed on a campus job paying not more than $100 a month.

Violation of this code is what brought probation and penalties for UCLA, Washington, Southern California and California. The latter will have served its one year of penitence July 1 and the conference voted unanimously that it be restored to good standing.

Camper Club's Dinner Tonight

Jack Hennemier, assistant football coach at the University of Maryland, will be the speaker at the annual dinner tonight by the Camper Club in honor of members of Allegany High School's athletic teams.

The affair is scheduled for the Centre Street Methodist Church recreation hall and will get underway at 6:30 p. m.

Coaches, managers and members of the football, basketball, baseball and track teams and their leaders will be honored.

The toastmaster will be Fred Andersen, Allegany alumnus and judge of the Allegany County juvenile court.

Approximately 125 persons will attend.

Cards Pick Ryba As Special Aide

ST. LOUIS (INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals today announced the appointment of Mike Ryba as special assistant to general manager Frank Lane.

Ryba, who gained fame as a player with the Redbirds by performing at all time diamond positions, succeeded Joe Mathes who resigned Monday following a front office shake-up last week.

Lane will scout players whom the Cardinals contemplate obtaining in trades and also report, from personal observation, on the progress of St. Louis' minor league players.

First Big Harness Stakes Race Tonight

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—The first of the rich New York stakes for harness horses will be raced tonight at Yonkers Raceway, with a smart field of nine battling in the $25,000-added Good Time Pace.

Adios Harry, the world record holder owned by J. Howard Lyons of Greenwood, Del., is the 8-5 favorite in the one mile affair, with Dottie's Pick next at 9 to 5. Dottie's Pick, owned by J. E. and C. E. Armstrong, Brampton, Ont., and Adios Harry have defeated each other in two previous meetings this season.

Cardinals Worried, Will Change Lineup

CINCINNATI (AP)—The troubled St. Louis Cardinals are expected to shake their lineup real good tonight against Cincinnati, including sticking third baseman Kenny Boyer in centerfield.

The fifth-place Red Birds, only one-half game out of sixth, may also start Ed Kasko at shortstop for Al Dark and Ed Miksis at third for Boyer, who'll be in rookie B. C. Smith's outfield spot.

Helfand, NBC Line Up With IBC In Suit

NEW YORK (AP)—Two influential organizations were lined up behind the International Boxing Club today in its stand against a government proposal the IBC says could mean an end to boxing as television has made it.

In this corner: Julius Helfand, chairman of the powerful New York State Athletic Commission. In the same corner: Tom Gallery, sports director of the National Broadcasting Company, which broadcasts the weekly Friday night fights.

Both struck key blows for the IBC while testifying yesterday before Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan in the government's monopoly suit against the IBC, its subsidiaries, and club officials James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz.

Judge Ryan, who has declared the IBC guilty of anti-trust regulations in conspiring to monopolize promotion of fights, is conducting hearings to determine the extent of penalties to be fixed.

The government wants the IBC dissolved and Norris and Wirtz compelled to sever connections with the club's two main bases of operation, Madison Square Garden and Chicago Stadium.

The IBC contends such steps would damage boxing and yesterday Helfand and Gallery agreed.

Southpaw Lane Confuses Brown

DETROIT (AP)—"This southpaw business is confusing," said the little man they call Toothpick Brown. "He was always coming at me from the wrong side."

Toothpick had recovered sufficiently from his sixth-round knockout by Kenny Lane to ramble on about how difficult it is to "figger" a southpaw.

"Someone said he couldn't punch," said Toothpick, a 24-year-old Philadelphia. "Whoever said it hasn't ever been in the ring with him, that's for sure."

It was a clear mismatch that brought Brown and Lane together in last night's nationally televised and broadcast lightweight bout from Detroit's Olympic Stadium.

What happened was that the 24-year-old Lane, after dominating the action through the first five rounds, connected with a looping right hand in the sixth round and Brown was counted out at the 1:14 mark. For the Muskegon, Mich., fighter, it was his 13th straight victory, his third straight knockout win and his 48th triumph in 51 starts.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
